KXUA, 88.3 FM

KXUA returns for its sixth year with the Razorbacks. A joint effort between the Athletics Department and the campus student-run radio station resulted in a relationship that continues today. KXUA will air volleyball, soccer, basketball and softball games throughout the year in the Northwest Arkansas area on 88.3 FM and on the internet at www.stationlog.com/kxua and at ArkansasRazorbacks.com. Media relations student Stephen McGowan (pictured below with head coach Robert Pulliza) will handle play-by-play duties during the 2010 season.

In addition to the matches that air on KXUA, all home volleyball matches, including non-conference and tournament matches will air on ArkansasRazorbacks.com along with the video stream.

Is it the fans? Is it the facility? Is it the band and cheerleaders?

It's all of those elements that make Barnhill Arena, the home of the Razorbacks, one of the toughest volleyball venues in the country.

Renovated several times, Barnhill Arena officially closed its doors as one of the most feared basketball facilities in the country March 3, 1993. It was re-configured into the largest volleyball-only arena in time for the inaugural season in 1994.

The Barn underwent a second significant face lift prior to the 2002 season to also become the home of University of Arkansas gymnastics.

Barnhill Arena was authorized in 1953 as the University's new multi-purpose arena. Named for athletic director John Barnhill, the Fieldhouse, as it was originally known, underwent a drastic renovation in 1976-78. The renovation created the seating arrangement that turned the facility into a basketball-only configuration.

The date of March 3, 1993, closed Barnhill's career as a basketball facility with a gala party, complete with a coast-to-coast broadcast of the Arkansas-LSU men's game on ESPN and closing ceremonies carried live statewide.

As the home of Razorback volleyball, Barnhill underwent renovation of its playing surface to convert the then 19-year-old hardwood floor to a volleyball configuration. It was unveiled to the public during Arkansas' summer camps, including the first-ever volleyball camp at the Fayetteville campus in 1994. In addition to the on-the-court renovation, the Razorback volleyball program was provided with a state-of-the-art locker room.

The locker room features a lounge area, team room with a large-screen television and VCR for viewing film and a changing room with lockers and showers.

Barnhill again underwent face-lift to remain one of the best in the country in 2002. Changes included new paint on the court, expanding the borders to 10 feet, and refinishing and lightening the surrounding wood surfaces.

New lights, including specialized "show lights" with shutters that allow for instant "on-off" capabilities, and new seating were other changes.

The Pulliza era began in 2008 with Arkansas competing under the second head coach in program history. Pulliza and his staff instituted some changes of their own updating the volleyball locker room and adorning the facility with new graphics. The southwest hallway leading to the court now features a game day mural and images of Arkansas' six All-Americans.

In addition to its competition duties, Barnhill Arena serves as office space for the Razorback volleyball staff. Several staff offices, team locker rooms and the training and equipment rooms are located inside.

PARKING

Barnhill Arena is located adjacent to the football stadium. Fans can be dropped off at the South entrance to Barnhill Arena before parking vehicles. Parking permits are not required after 5 p.m. Monday-Friday or weekends. If you will be in Barnhill during regular business hours, please make arrangements park in the pay areas during business hours. Parking can be found south of the arena or in The Pit/Lot 44 (the football stadium) north of the arena. Parking is also available at the parking lot west of Barnhill Arena.

TICKETS

Tickets for the 2010 Arkansas volleyball season are on sale throughout the year. This year, season-ticket renewals are available for $50.00 and include admission for one to all regular season events. First-time buyers can purchase season tickets for $29, which also includes a free pizza courtesy of Pizza Hut (limit one pizza per account). Single match tickets are available both in advance and at the door. UA students with a valid ID are admitted free to volleyball matches.

Please contact the Razorback Ticket Office at 800-982-HOGS or locally at 479-575-5151.

SEATING

Great seats for home matches in Barnhill Arena are available. Arkansas plays in a 8,500-seat facility with court-side, floor-level seating on three sides. North side seating is elevated so fans can sit behind the player benches and see all of the action. Sections L, M and N are reserved for season-ticket holders and those seats are chairbacks. Section U on the West side and G and H on the East are floor level chairbacks as well.

ACE T-SHIRTS

Fans watch for the cheerleaders to throw out "Ace" t-shirts when Arkansas serves that perfect serve.

VOICE OF ARKANSAS VOLLEYBALL

Arkansas volleyball arena announcer John Norwood returns for his 10th year with the Razorback volleyball team in 2010. In addition to the pre-match introductions, Norwood helps educate fans by "calling" the match. He is instrumental in keeping the crowd involved by starting a cheer after each point.

ARKANSAS STAT CREW

The Arkansas stat crew provides NCAA statistics for coaches, media and fans at all Arkansas volleyball matches. The stat crew veteran is Ben Pinter who joined the volleyball stat crew at the program's inception in 1994 and has been with us ever since. Pinter is joined by Sherryl Robinson, Mary Lee, Mary Line and Jodi Higbee.

Keith Line runs the volleyball scoreboard for home meets. Keith is a former Arkansas swimming coach who has stayed involved with many of the Razorback programs.

Jerry Hood provides the sound. Hood is a recent but enthusiastic addition.

In addition to volleyball, most of the people on the Arkansas volleyball stat crew also work football, men's and women's basketball and softball. Our thanks to them for their support at all Razorback events.

Kids be sure and look for the face painter in the lobby at most home matches.

JUNIOR RAZORBACKS

Hey young Razorback fans... you can be a part of all Razorback action by being a member of the Junior Razorbacks. Your membership in the Junior Razorbacks includes an official t-shirt, membership card, free admission to several regular season sporting events, an exclusive subscription to the Razorback newsletter, parties and clinics with the Razorbacks, and much more! Junior Razorback volleyball fans are invited to join the team for rally lines during the announcement of the starting lineups in Barnhill.

THE HOGWILD BAND, CHEERLEADERS & MASCOT

Kids of all ages will enjoy the Hogwild Band, Arkansas cheerleaders and Big Red mascot at home events. Sing along as the Hogwild Band, under the direction of Jeremy Pratchard plays the fight song and other favorites. The Razorback cheerleaders and Big Red, under the direction of Jean Nail and Kraig Jimenez, will be there.

Jeremy Pratchard, Assistant Band Director

A native Oklahoman, Pratchard received his bachelor of music education degree from Oklahoma and his master of music degree in percussion performance from Texas Tech. At Arkansas, Pratchard assists in the direction of the Razorback Marching Band, directs the Razorback men's basketball and volleyball bands, and the Concert Band. Prior to joining Arkansas, he taught at Texas Tech, where he served as assistant director of bands and director of marching percussion.

Kraig Jimenez, Cheer Coach

Kraig Jimenez is in his eighth year as cheer coach for the Arkansas Razorbacks. He has been a head camp instructor for Universal Cheerleaders Association for nine years. Jimenez is from Houston, Texas, and cheered four years at the University of Nebraska.

Jean Nail, Spirit Coordinator

Jean Nail is in her 29th year as spirit group coordinator for the Razorbacks. She coordinates the selection and performance schedule of the Razorback Cheerleaders, Pom squad, RBI Girls and Mascots as well as handling spirit groups for Razorbacks events.

Nail received her bachelor's in 1986 and masters in 1987 in education from the University of Arkansas.

Jean and husband Mike Nail have two daughters, Michelle (Mrs. Doug) Kehn and Elsa (Mrs. Scott) Salrin and are the proud grandparents of John Michael Kehn, 12 and Aubrey Anne Kehn, nine.

WHY ARKANSAS?

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

It's never easy to move away from home, but the University of Arkansas and University Housing make sure our students have the comforts they need.

There are 12 residence halls to choose from at Arkansas. They include Futrall, Gibson, Gregson, Holcombe, Humphreys, Maple Hill East, Maple Hill South, Maple Hill West, Northwest Quad, Pomfret Honors Quarters, Reid and Yocum.

This year, the Razorback volleyball players are living in the Northwest Quad or "The Quad" for short.

The players reported to campus Aug. 8 for their first official day of the 2010 preseason. Day one featured meetings with the academics, compliance and Student Life staffs. The Razorbacks also took team pictures.

"I loved the campus, coaches and players, and when I visited the campus, I felt right at home and knew this was the right school for me. Everybody was so welcoming and friendly, and though Arkansas is a big school, I felt like there was also a small-town kind of atmosphere which I loved!"

-Alex Fitzmorris, freshman

"The coaches convinced me to visit and said the school would speak for itself. I didn't know what to expect but once I got here, I knew they were right."

-Brooke Fournier, freshman

Approximately 600 students live in The Quad with backgrounds ranging from scholarship athletes, honors students, 15 resident assistants, one faculty in residence and one coordinator for residence education.

The Quad rooms are "suite-style" with each resident having her own room. Residence share a bathroom with one other resident and four students share a living room space.

High-speed internet access, a computer lab and free laundry facilities are just a few of the many amenities students enjoy.

The Quad is located within walking distance from Barnhill Arena making them convenient for student-athletes.

In addition, The Quad are easily accessible to classrooms, dining and the center of campus.

"This is a beautiful campus and there is such great treatment of all the student-athletes. Anything you need is right there for you."

-Hayley Koop, freshman

"Along with a first-rate volleyball program, Arkansas is an excellent school with great people and extraordinary opportunities."

-Clarissa Pavey, freshman

HOW THE RAZORBACKS TRAIN

Kelli Stipanovich

Mackenzie Rhea

Training to be a Razorback is no easy task but workouts are made easier with state-of-the-art equipment and an inventive staff that keeps it fresh.

Razorback volleyball teams have access to a pair of weight rooms, the Sutton Strength and Conditioning Center and the Walker Family Training Center.

Opening in April 2004, the Sutton Strength and Conditioning Center is the primary weight room for Arkansas volleyball. Here, the Razorbacks take advantage of a 7,000 square foot space located in the Lewis Center. The space is dedicated to the training needs for female student-athletes with equipment sized and selected for the needs of female athletes. The facility includes Olympic weights, plyometric training aerobic equipment and selectorized weight machines all in one space.

Opened Jan. 18, 2005, the Walker Family Training Center is a 35,000 square foot facility that overlooks the Razorback indoor and outdoor football practice fields. It is located inside the 76,000 square foot Willard and Pat Walker Pavilion. The Pavilion is utilized by all 19 teams at the University. It houses a full-size football field and the Camden and Sue Greene Speed Development Center with sprint and sand training lanes.

Todd Barbour joined the Razorback staff as Arkansas' director of strength and conditioning for Olympic sports in the summer of 2008. His 15 years of experience in the field includes stops at the Performance and Wellness Institute in Greeley, Colo., Oregon State and in a high school in Billings, Mont.

His creative use of large tires, sleds and sand-filled tubes challenge student-athletes of every team on all skill levels.

Volleyball practice is hard. But anything worth doing is worth doing well and that's the philosophy you'll hear from the Razorback volleyball staff.

Practices include drills, conditioning and scrimmages that will test and strengthen all aspects of a player's game.

Players utilize the "ladder" to increase foot speed and timing. They increase flexibility through stretching and using hurdles in practice.

Sand volleyball is also becoming a more significant element of overall training at the collegiate level. The Razorback staff trains its indoor players on the sand courts on campus.

NATIONAL TEAM EXPERIENCE

Field was joined by Razorback teammate Yarleen Santiago (1997-99) who earned selection to the Puerto Rico National Team in 1998, as well.

New to the list of national team players is Razorback Kelli Stipanovich. The St. Louis, Mo., native was selected to participate with the Women's Junior National A2 Team in the summer of 2009.

The U.S. Women's Junior A2-Europe program left the United States July 14, traveling to Zurich, Switzerland, July 15. The team took part in a training camp with the Swiss senior National Team and a team from the European Federation as well as the USA/BIP team from July 15-19, before heading to Pula, Croatia, July 19. Stipanovich and the team then participated in the European Global Challenge in Croatia, July 20-24 and had a day of sightseeing in Venice, Italy, July 24, prior to their return home July 25.

"At the University of Arkansas, we take great pride in training and it's exciting to see that when an athlete commits herself to work hard day in and day out good things happen," said Pulliza. "Kelli is deserving of this opportunity and I was proud of her wearing that USA jersey!"

Sophomore Janeliss Torres-Lopez checks in for her second year of collegiate volleyball after being a member of the Puerto Rico Junior National Team. Torres-Lopez has high-level international experience that should help her step into a leadership role with the Razorbacks during the final three seasons of her collegiate career.

Incoming freshman Raymariely Santos continues the Puerto Rican pipeline. Prior to joining the Razorbacks, Santos was a member of the Puerto Rico National and Junior National teams. She served as a team captain at the 2010 NORCECA Junior Continental Championship in which Puerto Rico finished fifth. Santos also has experience in the Grand Prix tournaments played in Brazil, Japan and Thailand.

Jessica Field & Yarleen Santiago

The University of Arkansas volleyball team is reinventing itself under the direction of current head coach Robert Pulliza. One of the elements that is important to Pulliza and his staff is how players represent themselves as Razorbacks, as student-athletes and in the community.

There is no greater honor or more significant way to represent a player's talent than to be selected for her national team program.

The Razorbacks now have six such players in the program's history and fans can look for many more in Arkansas' future.

The first Razorback to earn USA recognition was Krystal Osborne (1994-07). The Las Vegas, Nev., native was selected to the 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival Team.

RAZORBACKS ENJOY SAND EXPERIENCE

In the spring of 2009, the University of Arkansas volleyball program took part in the Second Annual SEC Coaches Beach Volleyball in Siesta Key, Fla.

Kelli Stipanovich, now entering her junior season in Fayetteville, teamed with former Razorback setter Caira Dortch (2005-08) in five matches as part of the event.

"It was an awesome day," said Arkansas assistant coach Kris Grunwald who accompanied the team. "Our progress was excellent. We learned so much and got better from start to finish."

The Razorbacks suffered losses to Kentucky and LSU but picked up splits with Ole Miss and Florida in the early rounds.

Arkansas then fell 21-19 to Tennessee in the first round of bracket play.

"This event is great exposure for the emerging sport of beach volleyball," said Grunwald. "There were thousands of spectators and we played on the center court most of the day. This event does a great job of showcasing the sport and I think we represented Arkansas and the SEC well."

The event was the Razorbacks second sand appearance. The inaugural SEC Coaches Beach Volleyball Championship took place in Gainesville, Fla., with Ashley Miller and Jessica Dorrell represented Arkansas at the event.

The 2009 event was combined with the Collegiate Beach Volleyball Challenge with schools outside the SEC competing in what is believed to be the large collegiate beach volleyball tournament.

Beach volleyball was introduced to the collegiate scene by CBS College Sports Network with the Collegiate Nationals, an original event founded by the Network in the spring of 2006. That event is now in its fourth season. The coaches of the Southeastern and Sunshine State Conferences followed with their beach tournaments in the spring of 2008.

The popularity of those events along with others that sprang up spontaneously around the country helped lead to the NCAA's Committee on Women's Athletics to recommend in the summer of 2008 that sand volleyball be added to the emerging sports list for women.

In April 2010, representatives from Division I and II voted to add sand volleyball to the NCAA list of emerging sports. Division II sand volleyball begins in 2010-11 with Division I starting in 2011-12. Sports once placed on the emerging list that have since been made part of the NCAA Championships include women's rowing, women's water polo, women's ice hockey and women's bowling.

SEC WESTERN DIVISION SUCCESS

The Southeastern Conference welcomed the arrival of two new teams, Arkansas and South Carolina in 1992 with the Razorbacks adding volleyball for the 1994 season.

The addition of Arkansas brought the SEC to 11 teams (Vanderbilt does not sponsor volleyball) and prompted the league to recognize an Eastern and Western Division.

No one could have imagined the early success the Razorbacks would have as they surged to the top of the divisional standings in the program's first year of existence.

Since Arkansas' addition, the Razorbacks have won a share of 11 SEC Western Division titles in 16 seasons. They have one SEC Tournament title in 1997 and have won numerous individual awards.

Arkansas reached the SEC Tournament finals in just the second year of the program in 1995. The Razorbacks reached eight SEC Tournament finals before the league dropped the tournament in 2006.

The Razorbacks won the 1997 SEC Tournament title in Athens, Ga., defeating fourth-ranked Florida in three sets, 15-7, 15-7, 17-15, avenging losses to the Gators in the previous two finals. Krystal Osborne earned tournament MVP honors. The Razorbacks swept through three matches without dropping a set in the tournament, defeating Tennessee in the opener and downing South Carolina in the semifinals.

Arkansas hosted the SEC Tournament in 1998 and 2002 at Barnhill Arena, advancing to the championship match on both occasions.

Arkansas has an impressive 123-35 record, good for a .778 winning percentage, against the five other members of the SEC West - Alabama, Auburn, LSU, Ole Miss and Mississippi State.

RAZORBACKS IN THE COMMUNITY

Being a part of the Northwest Arkansas community is an important part of being a Razorback. This ranges from softball team visits to area nursing homes to track and field volunteer work with Race for the Cure and Special Olympics.

But that's just a small part of the Razorbacks community service. Players visit area schools to read to youngsters in the school library. Arkansas is a charter member of the "Bring a Girl to the Game" promotion for National Women's and Girls in Sport Day. The regional Girl Scout troops are involved in several projects, including Girl Scout Day, for many team sports like basketball, volleyball, men's and women's golf, men's and women's tennis and softball.

During the 2008-09 academic year, the Arkansas Athletic Department spearheaded the creation of Razorbacks Character Counts, a speaker's bureau for coaches and athletes to reach out to local schools at every level. The goal is to bring positive examples of the benefit of hard work, teamwork and leadership that participation in athletics can provide.

Each team has its own special way of involving itself with local youth.

BOOK HOGS

The story of Rowdy Razorback is one of the featured items of the Book Hogs program. Razorback student-athletes visit area elementary schools each year to read the story of Rowdy, and how he learns the importance of reading to fulfilling the dream of becoming a Razorback student-athlete.

Sponsored by AT&T, the Book Hogs program encourages elementary school students to read 360 minutes in one month to qualify for the chance to have a Razorback athlete have lunch with the reading winner. Various prizes for participation -- ranging from the class with the most 360-minute participation to attending the end-of-year Book Hog rally at Bud Walton Arena -- keep the thought that reading is important for education.

The Book Hog assemblies at local schools also promote the fun part of reading. Razorback athletes share their favorite stories and authors with the kids, and of course, read the story of Rowdy.

The Razorback volleyball team was very involved with several reading opportunities in 2009-10.

The entire team traveled to West Fork, Ark., meeting with West Fork Elementary throughout the school year as the program continued.

HONDURAS

Razorback student-athletes participate in numerous community service activities ranging from Razorbacks for Thanksgiving to volunteering with Habitat for Humanity and Big Brother/Big Sister.

One of the most enduring service projects began in 2000 when 20 student-athletes traveled to Honduras to aid in the rebuilding after Hurricane Mitch.

This service continues with several student-athletes making the trip every year since 2000. In 2009, Razorback volleyball players Kelli Stipanovich and Caira Dortch traveled to Honduras.

LIFT UP AMERICA

A group of 89 Razorback student-athletes gave back to the community as they participated in the third annual Lift Up America event on the University of Arkansas campus. The Razorbacks partnered with Lift Up America, Tyson Foods and Feeding America to raise awareness for the need for hunger relief in America.

Several Razorback volleyball players attended a press conference and loaded food and supplies onto trucks for the Northwest Arkansas Food Bank and various other local non-profit outreach agencies.

RAZORBACK RELIEF

In late June 2010, University of Arkansas coaches, staff and student-athletes teamed with members of the Northwest Arkansas community and Numana, Inc., packing a record of more than 1.4 million meals for Razorback Relief: Operation Haiti at the Randal Tyson Track Center during an overnight, 24-hour period.

The event was organized to help package meals to help feed the starving population of Haiti still suffering after an earthquake last January. The final meal count for the event was 1,420,638 meals.

Among the volunteers were more than 75 University of Arkansas student-athletes along with coaches from several Razorback teams including Robert Pulliza (volleyball), John Pelphrey (men's basketball), Tom Collen (women's basketball), Shauna Estes-Taylor (women's golf), Brad McMakin (men's golf), Michael Hegarty (women's tennis), Robert Cox (men's tennis) and Rene Cook (gymnastics).

While the primary focus was to provide food for Haiti, Razorback Relief: Operation Haiti also helped feed people in Northwest Arkansas. Volunteers attending the event donated more than 2,000 canned goods that were distributed in the area by the Northwest Arkansas Food Bank.

SWEAT HAWGS

The "SWEAT HAWG" program is a collaborative community outreach effort between the Razorback Athletics Program, the Fayetteville Public Schools and the Farmington Public Schools.

Bringing Razorback athletes to area elementary schools to conduct PE rallies and providing incentives to students and teachers to encourage physical fitness, the SWEAT HAWGS inspire youth to be active.

"SWEAT HAWGS" launched its pilot program during the 2004-05 academic year, and included all nine Fayetteville Elementary Schools.

The program is now in its fifth year, incorporates all nine Fayetteville elementary schools, and its third, fourth and fifth graders (1,933 students in approximately 120 physical education classrooms). Fayetteville schools include: Asbell, Butterfield Trail, Happy Hollow, Holcomb, Leverett, Owl Creek, Root, Vandergriff and Washington Elementary.

The program expanded in 2008-09 to include the Farmington school's third, fourth and fifth graders (520 students in 23 physical education classrooms). Farmington schools include Williams Elementary, Ledbetter Intermediate, Folsom Elementary and Lynch Middle School.

TOGETHER WE CAN

Sponsored by each SEC member's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, the 10-day "Together We CAN" drive is a conference-wide food drive benefiting area collection agencies.

For the Razorbacks, the recipient is the Northwest Arkansas Food Bank, which services agencies in the four-county Northwest Arkansas area of Benton, Carroll, Madison and Washington counties.

RAZORBACKS: THE COACHES

The University of Arkansas added one of the nation's top recruiters to its athletic staff when Robert Pulliza was introduced as the head coach of the Razorback volleyball team on July 11, 2008. Pulliza took over as the second head coach at Arkansas to lead the Hogs into the program's next era. He is one of just a handful of coaches in the country to play and coach in the Final Four.

As a player, Pulliza was a two-year captain for the Ball State men's volleyball team and helped lead the Cardinals to the NCAA Final Four in 1994 and 1995. Then as an assistant coach at Wisconsin, Pulliza helped guide the Badgers to the Final Four during the 2000 season.

With the talents of the youngest roster since the program's inaugural season, the Razorback volleyball team took tremendous strides during Pulliza's second year as head coach. Picked to finish 10th in the Southeastern Conference in the preseason coaches' poll, the Razorbacks exceeded all expectations to post the sixth-best record in the league in 2009.

As impressive as the team's development, the emergence of Jasmine Norton as Arkansas' go-to player on the outside was instrumental to the team's success. Norton was a member of Pulliza's first recruiting class at Arkansas, which was ranked in the nation's top 45 by PrepVolleyball.com.

During her first season in Cardinal and White, Norton became the sixth All-American in Razorback program history when she was selected as an honorable mention performer by the AVCA. In addition to her national recognition, Norton was named the SEC and South Region Freshman of the Year, earned a spot on the All-SEC Second Team and garnered All-South Region Honorable Mention accolades. During the season, the Rowlett, Texas, native set an SEC record by earning six league Freshman of the Week awards, all of which came during conference play.

That initial group of recruits also included Amanda Anderson, the very first commitment for Pulliza as Arkansas' head coach. Anderson and Norton were both named to the SEC All-Freshman Team, the seventh and eight all-freshman selections in program history. During the season, Anderson earned all-tournament honors at the TCU Invitational and Arkansas Invitational, the latter resulting in the 6-2 middle blocker being named the SEC Freshman of the Week.

Pulliza's first season with the Razorback Nation included a pair of SEC sweeps and his first foray into the SEC Coaches' Beach Volleyball Championship. He also helped then-freshman Kelli Stipanovich earn a spot on the USA Junior National A2 Team that traveled to Europe during the summer of 2009.

Pulliza came to Fayetteville after stops in some of the nation's best programs, including, most recently, the University of Kentucky where he served as the associate head coach.

He was instrumental in re-energizing the Kentucky program upon his arrival in 2004. His recruiting prowess with the Wildcats was evident as his 2007 class was ranked No. 8 in the country. He followed with the 17th-ranked recruiting class in 2008. Pulliza's class in 2006 was ranked 26th by PrepVolleyball.com.

One of the standouts from Pulliza's initial recruiting class at Kentucky, setter Sarah Rumely, went on to be voted the 2008 SEC Player of the Year and two-time All-American. During her first season, Rumely was a twice named the SEC Freshman of the Week en route to being named the SEC Freshman of the Year.

One member of the 2007 Kentucky team, Queen Nzenwa, became the program's first All-America selection since 1993 after finishing the year ranked eighth in the nation in blocks per game.

Pulliza's 2007 freshman class again led the SEC in first-year player success as the Wildcats brought home four SEC Freshman of the Week honors and a league-leading seven honors.

Kentucky made three NCAA tournament appearances in Pulliza's three seasons for the first time in school history. In addition, Pulliza helped guide the Wildcats to a 20-win season for the first time since 1993. Kentucky had three consecutive 17-plus win seasons including back-to-back 19-win years and Pulliza coached nine All-SEC members and 10 All-SEC Academic honorees.

Pulliza's college coaching career began in 1996 as an assistant coach at James Madison University. He moved on to Northern Illinois for the 1998-99 season helping the Huskies to the Mid-American Conference regular season title and second round of the NCAA Tournament in 1998.

Pulliza's next stop was in Madison, Wis., where he served as the recruiting coordinator and offensive coordinator for the Badgers from 1999-2001. He is credited with recruiting Volleyball Magazine's sixth-best class in the country in 2001. In addition, Pulliza found himself on the sidelines as the Badgers won the Big Ten title and were in the NCAA Final Four Championship match in 2000.

The next stop for Pulliza was the University of Texas in 2001-04. While serving as an assistant for the Longhorns, Pulliza signed Student Sports Magazine's second-ranked recruiting class in the nation in 2003 and landed PrepVolleyball.com's 13th-ranked class in 2004.

In addition to his success at the collegiate level, Pulliza has also gained international experience with the Puerto Rico and USA National Team programs. In 2000 and 2001, he was an assistant with the USA Youth National Team, with the 2000 team earning a silver medal at the NORCCA Zonal Championship. Pulliza went on to serve as an assistant coach with the USA National A2 team in the summer of 2003.

Most recently, Pulliza was part of the coaching staff that took the Puerto Rico Junior National Team to Lima, Peru, in February 2010 to compete in the Summer Cup. The team played Chile, the Dominican Republic and Peru, picking up a win against the Chilean team.

Later that spring, Pulliza on the bench, the Puerto Rico Junior National Team won the bronze medal at the NORCECA Girls' Youth Continental Championship. The top three finish insured a trip to the 2011 FIVB Youth World Championship in Turkey. As well as his assistant coach duties, Pulliza also serves as a consultant for Puerto Rico.

Along with his wife, he established the Robert and Jamie Pulliza Opportunity Scholarship in 2009. The scholarship was established for a non-athlete attending the University of Arkansas based on academic achievement, leadership and community engagement. Hayden Herrera was the first recipient of the scholarship.

A native of San Juan, Puerto Rico, Pulliza is a 1996 graduate of Ball State with a degree in general studies and sports administration. Pulliza received his master's degree in athletics administration and coaching in 1998 from James Madison University. His wife, Jamie, is a speech pathologist.

PULLIZA INTERNATIONAL

Arkansas head coach Robert Pulliza brings a host of varied experiences to the Razorbacks. Those experiences and his enthusiasm for the game continue to grow and expand with each passing day.

Pulliza came to the Razorbacks having served three stints with the US National programs. He was an assistant coach for the US Girls Youth National Team in 2000 and 2001 (see photos below).

Pulliza's 2000 team won the silver medal at the NORCECA Zonal Championship in the Dominican Republic.

Pulliza's international experience continued with the US National A2 Team in 2003.

With two year of head coaching experience under his belt at Arkansas, Pulliza remains active in the international coaching community. He now serves as a consultant to the Puerto Rican Junior National program.

In February 2010, Pulliza served as an assistant coach for the Puerto Rico Junior National Team at the Summer Cup in Lima, Peru. He followed that experience with a trip to the NORCECA Girls' Youth Continental Championship where Puerto Rico earned a bronze medal (left) and secured a spot in the 2011 FIVB Youth World Championship tournament.

Robert Pulliza as an assistant coach with the USA Girls Youth National Teams in 2000 and 2001.

Entering his third season as an assistant coach for the Razorbacks, Kris Grunwald is very familiar with the Southeastern Conference and Arkansas after spending six seasons at Auburn and three at Ole Miss during his coaching career.

Since arriving at Arkansas, Grunwald has focused his attention on recruiting and opponent breakdown. He helped coordinate the Razorbacks' top-45 recruiting class in 2009, which included All-American Jasmine Norton and SEC All-Freshman Amanda Anderson, and their PrepVolleyball.com honorable mention group for 2010.

Grunwald was a three-time Asics Honorable Mention All-American and three-time All-East First Team performer for the George Mason volleyball team (1988-91), which reached the Final Four in 1988. In the George Mason career records book, he is second in kills (1,764), fourth in digs (676) and seventh in blocks (394). He moved on to Florida State for his graduate work where he served as an assistant coach for three seasons (1991-93).

He assumed a larger role as the recruiting coordinator when he joined the Auburn staff as an assistant in 1994, a position he held until 1998. In 1998, Grunwald stepped into the head coaching job with Auburn. He guided the Tigers to a 22-9 record during his first season and tallied 41 wins during his tenure.

Grunwald moved on to the University of Michigan to become the compliance service coordinator for the Wolverines from 2000-02, assisting with student-athlete certification, eligibility and NCAA rules interpretation.

Coaching came calling once again in 2002 when he returned to the SEC as an assistant coach for Ole Miss, a position he held through the 2005 season. From his spot with the Rebels, Grunwald became the associate head coach at Morehead State until accepting the position at Arkansas prior to the 2008 season.

Grunwald is a 1991 graduate of George Mason University with a bachelor's degree in mathematics. He earned his master's degree in mathematics education at Florida State in 1993. He is married to Arkansas head soccer coach Erin Aubry.

ASSISTANT COACH || THIRD SEASON
TEXAS A&M, 2004

Carol Price-Torok joined the University of Arkansas volleyball staff as an assistant coach in July 2008 and begins her third season on the sidelines with the Razorbacks. Her role at Arkansas includes film breakdown and match preparation.

Price-Torok came to Arkansas after two seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Texas-San Antonio. While at UTSA, Price-Torok helped the Roadrunners to success both in and out of the gym. During her tenure, six players earned All-Southland Conference honors, including first-team performers Connie Picard and Victoria Prior.

In addition to UTSA's accomplishments on the court, Price-Torok assisted the Roadrunners with five selections to the SLC All-Academic Team while on the sideline.

Prior to her time at UTSA, Price-Torok spent one season as an assistant at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas. She aided the Pirates to a 36-5 record, the team's first Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference title in recent years and a trip to the NCAA Division III Tournament in 2005.

A native of Fenton, Mich., Price-Torok played her college volleyball at Texas A&M from 2000-2003. A two-year starter as an outside hitter for the Aggies, she earned the team's Most Improved Player award as a junior. She went on to earn the team's Best Offensive Player honor as a senior after moving to middle blocker. During Price-Torok's playing career, Texas A&M advanced to the Regional Final in 2001 and the NCAA Regionals in 2003.

In addition to volleyball, Price-Torok was a center on the Aggies women's basketball team during the 2003-04 season.

Price-Torok is a 2004 graduate of Texas A&M University with a bachelor's degree in horticulture. The former Carol Price married Matt Torok in December 2008, and the couple resides in Fayetteville.

2010 OUTLOOK

When the University of Arkansas volleyball team takes the court for its Aug. 27 season opener against Missouri-Kansas City, it will mark the beginning of the Razorbacks' third season under head coach Robert Pulliza. Built on the foundation of his first recruiting class that featured All-American and Southeastern Conference Freshman of the Year Jasmine Norton and SEC All-Freshman performer Amanda Anderson, Pulliza will rely on his young players.

"It seems like we've been waiting forever to get the season going," Pulliza said. "It felt like a really long summer. We're excited to get back in and work with our team. Our excitement level is high because we're confident in this team so we can't wait to get back into the gym and get started."

Despite Arkansas' relative youth, the team does not lack experience. At any one point last season, the Razorbacks' lineup featured as many as five freshmen on the floor at the same time during conference play. With its group of returning players from a season ago, Arkansas brings back approximately 78 percent of its offense (total kills), including three of its top four kill leaders from 2009. All told, the Razorbacks' roster has nine returning letterwinners with the addition of seven newcomers.

For the first time since the 1995 season, the program's second year of existence, the Razorbacks will field a team without a senior on their roster. With the graduation of 2009 seniors Lindsay Scanlan and Kristin Seaton, Arkansas turns to an experienced mix of sophomores and juniors for leadership on and off the court.

"There's no doubt about the fact that we're very young," Pulliza said. "We don't have any seniors this season with six sophomores and six freshmen. Our sophomores had to mature a lot last season because of the amount of time they had to play. They bring a lot of experience and match-play repetition into practice and match environments. The freshmen that we are bringing in have a lot of volleyball in them. They'll certainly contribute to helping us move forward."

"I'm very excited about this second recruiting class as we continue to make Arkansas one of the elite programs in the nation. This group is going to add size, athleticism and a lot of volleyball experience to an already exciting core of players."

Kelli Stipanovich, one of Arkansas' four juniors this season, was second on the team last season with 2.48 kills per set and 295 total put-aways. She is one of three players on the team, along with Phoebe Bautista and Mackenzie Rhea, to play in all three seasons of Pulliza's tenure with the Razorbacks. Norton and Anderson turned in standout freshman seasons and return to the team as go-to options. Along with her postseason accolades in 2009, Norton thrived during conference play with a league-best 4.44 kills per set.

In addition to Norton and Stipanovich on the outside, the Razorbacks lean on the return of sophomore Kendall Cleveland whose 2009 season was cut short by a knee injury in mid-October. Just prior to her injury, Cleveland posted a pair of double-digit kill totals against Alabama and Mississippi State, including a career-best 14 kills against the Bulldogs. Hayley Koop joins the core of outside hitters as part of Pulliza's 2010 recruiting class. The 6-1 native of Spring, Texas, was an all-state performer and all-star selection for Klein High School.

"Kelli has the most experience of anybody right now," Pulliza said. "She brings a lot of knowledge to the team on a lot of different levels. Kelli knows what the expectations are so she's going to play a major leadership role for us as she grows, athletically and personally."

"Two others that really need to play a role of leadership are Amanda and Jasmine. They were both all-freshman (picks) in the SEC and Jasmine was an All-American last season. They were on the court for every match so they know what to expect and what needs to happen for us to be successful. Those three players will be the core of our leadership this year and who we look to throughout the season, on and off the court."

At the middle blocker position, Anderson will be joined by returners Allison Johnson and Janeliss Torres-Lopez and newcomers Alex Fitzmorris and Charmaine Whitmore. Johnson came on strong toward the end of last season and started the Razorbacks' final 10 matches of the year. Torres-Lopez was hampered with a nagging ankle injury late in the season but finished her freshman season as the team's top blocker with 0.77 blocks per set.

With the additions of Fitzmorris and Whitmore, Arkansas adds more size and athleticism in the middle.

Fitzmorris, a 6-4 native from Overland Park, Kan., will bring a bit more experience into 2010 than the rest of the freshmen as she joined the team in January to go through spring workouts and the exhibition competition schedule. Whitmore comes to the Razorbacks from Fort Smith, Ark., where, in addition to her volleyball prowess, she was a standout for the basketball and track and field teams at Northside High School.

"In this group of newcomers, we have some great athleticism," Pulliza said. "Charmaine is one of the best athletes I've ever coached. She will be a great, great player. Right now, she's a little raw but she is capable of doing so many great things for us."

The responsibility of running the team's offense will fall into the hands sophomore Cassie Clarke and freshman Raymariely Santos. The two will battle it out for the setter spot in the starting lineup. As a freshman, Clarke emerged last season as Arkansas' starter in its last four matches. She displayed her capabilities with a 66-assist outburst against Auburn, the most assists by an SEC player during the 2009 season. Santos brings a wealth of volleyball knowledge and experience after spending the past few seasons in the Puerto Rico National Team system.

"Cassie is doing some very impressive things," Pulliza said. "That being said, she only has four starts under her belt but she does have a full spring of workouts to build on. She has more experience within our system. Raymariely is a very athletic setter and knows the game very well. The hardest thing for her, as with any freshman, will be getting used to the system and speed of the game. It's going to take her a little while to get used to that.

"I'm very excited that, with both of them, we can be a great team. We'll run a 5-1 (offensive system) so one of them will step into that starter role. Whoever gets that nod, I have confidence that they'll take the reins and make us go."

Behind the block, the Razorbacks will be without Bautista in 2010. The team's starting libero last season suffered an offseason knee injury that will sideline the Oakland, Calif., native for the entire year. Arkansas will move forward with Rhea, Brooke Fournier, Clarissa Pavey and Adriana Vazquez filling the roles of libero and defensive specialist. Rhea appeared in all 31 matches last season with five starts and averaged 1.36 digs per set. Vazquez, a junior transfer from Hampton University, joined the team in January, along with Fitzmorris, to participate in the Razorbacks' spring season. Fournier and Pavey are both members of Pulliza's incoming class of freshman.

As is the case with most teams, Arkansas will spend a good portion of its preseason determining where to place players to be the most successful, especially with the team's young players expected to play such an important role this season.

"We have to figure out a lineup and that's what the preseason is for," Pulliza said. "We have to get organized, define some roles and start moving forward as a unit. Players will have to learn what their roles are and embrace those to contribute within those roles for the team. That's the biggest thing with this group. Obviously, we're going to work on some system things and some technical things but the main focus early during the preseason will be to figure out our lineup."

The Razorbacks open their season by hosting the Arkansas Invitational at Barnhill Arena. In addition to UMKC, the non-conference event will feature the teams from Grambling State and Samford. The rest of the non-conference tournament schedule will take the team to Lawrence, Kan., for the Jayhawk Classic and Murfreesboro, Tenn., for the Middle Tennessee Invitational. Arkansas also faces Oral Roberts in Tulsa and Oklahoma in Fayetteville prior to the start of the SEC slate.

The always-tough conference season begins Sept. 17 at home for Arkansas. In their league opener, the Razorbacks will take on Georgia and round out the weekend against Auburn. The 2010 regular-season finale is scheduled for Nov. 24 against defending SEC champion LSU at Barnhill Arena. Postseason play begins the first weekend of December with the first and second rounds of the 2010 NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championship. It's a date the Razorbacks have circled on their collective calendar.

"We've set some early goals and we'll drive those points home during the preseason," Pulliza said. "The bottom line is we want to be an NCAA Tournament team. Being an NCAA team this year is something we talk about often. We know we can do that because we have the personnel in the gym to make it happen. We take that talent and now we have to mature as a team and execute throughout the season to set ourselves up for success."

2009 // Freshman

Amanda Anderson emerged as an impact player for the Razorbacks in her first season, leading the team in hitting percentage and earning a spot on the SEC All-Freshman Team for her performance during the season. During the season-opening weekend, she averaged 10 kills per match and a .436 hitting percentage at the TCU Invitational en route to all-tournament honors. Anderson totaled 10 kills and four blocks against Virginia Tech to cap a successful week in which she was selected as the SEC Freshman of the Week. In the Razorbacks' next match, she had a career-high seven total blocks at Tulsa in a five-set victory. Anderson earned her second all-tournament selection of the season at the Arkansas Invitational. She began SEC play with 11 kills and three blocks against South Carolina (Sept. 18) and four total blocks against No. 5 Florida (Sept. 20). Anderson equaled her career mark with seven total blocks at Auburn (Oct. 4) and added 10 kills. In the team's second meeting with Kentucky (Oct. 30), she tallied 12 kills with a .455 hitting percentage, her highest attack efficiency of the conference season. She followed that effort with 13 kills and six total blocks against Tennessee (Nov. 1). Anderson put down a career-best 15 kills at a .344 clip against Auburn (Nov. 20). She finished the season second on the team with 0.76 blocks per set and third with 2.25 kills per set. In the classroom, Anderson earned a spot on Arkansas' Athletic Director List during the 2009 fall semester.

Prior to Arkansas

Anderson was a middle blocker for Colleyville Heritage High School in Euless, Texas, and played along with current teammate Jasmine Norton for the Texas Advantage club team. Anderson was a three-time all-district selection during her prep career and set school records for kills in a season (778), kills per set (5.68) and single-season kills in district play (289). She helped lead Texas Advantage to 23rd place at USA Junior National Championships as a sophomore and a third-place showing as a junior. Anderson was also part of the TAV 18 Asics team that finished ninth in the open division in 2009.

Phoebe Bautista led the team and was eighth in the Southeastern Conference with 3.94 digs per set. As the Razorbacks' starting libero in each match, she totaled 477 digs, the seventh-highest total on Arkansas' single-season list. Bautista opened the season with 29 digs in a five-set matchup at TCU. She led the Hogs' defensive charge with 41 digs during the Virginia Tech Invitational and was named to the all-tournament team. In the SEC opener, she tallied 20 digs against South Carolina (Sept. 18) as Arkansas had 77 digs, the highest total by an SEC team during a three-set match. She continued to post big numbers behind the Razorback block with 27 digs against Alabama (Oct. 9) and 21 digs against LSU (Nov. 8). In a five-set battle against Auburn (Nov. 20), Bautista tallied a career-high 33 digs, the second-highest match total in Razorback history and the third most during the season by an SEC player. In addition to her defensive performance, Bautista dished out a career-best five assists against the Tigers. At the service line, she had 22 aces, including a season-high three against North Texas and in the season finale at Ole Miss (Nov. 25). Bautista was named to the Arkansas Athletic Department Honor Roll for her work in the classroom during the 2009 fall semester.

2008 // Redshirt Freshman

The Oakland, Calif., native stepped into the starting libero role in her second season with the Razorbacks. She played in all 109 games and led the team with 341 digs and 3.13 digs per set. She tallied 13 matches with double-figures digs including three matches with at least 20 digs. Bautista recorded a then-career best with 27 digs against Tulsa and finished her first season on the court with two kills. She also enjoyed success in the classroom as a member of the Arkansas Athletic Department Honor Roll during the 2008 fall semester.

Bautista redshirted during the 2007 season.

Prior to Arkansas

Bautista joined the Razorbacks from Encinal High School in Alameda, Calif., where she was a four-year letterwinner and starter for the Jet. She helped the EHS to a pair of Alameda Contra Costa Athletic League titles and two third-place showings during her four-year prep career. In addition to high school volleyball, Bautista played for the Golden Bear club team in Berkeley, Calif. She helped the team to a ninth-place showing in both 2004 and 2005 at the USA Junior National Championships and a fifth-place finish in 2006 at the 18 Open.

Personal

Phoebe Simone Bautista is the youngest of three children to Christopher and Apolonia Hilao-Bautista of Oakland, Calif. Born March 5, 1989, she has two older brothers, Jordan and Ian, and is majoring in criminal justice and sociology at Arkansas.

RAZORBACKS: 2009 REVIEW

2009 SEASON REVIEW

Behind the talents of its youngest roster since the program's inaugural season, the University of Arkansas volleyball team made strides under second-year head coach Robert Pulliza. Picked to finish 10th in the Southeastern Conference in the preseason coaches' poll, the Razorbacks exceeded expectations to post the sixth-best record in the league.

The Razorbacks finished the 2009 with a 13-18 record, a six-win improvement from the previous season, and in conference play, upped their win total by three to post a 7-13 mark. All this was done with a roster comprised of seven freshmen, three sophomores and two seniors; at any one time, the Razorbacks had as many as five freshmen on the court at the same time during SEC action.

Individually, the 2009 season represented the emergence of freshman outside hitter Jasmine Norton. The Rowlett, Texas, native became the sixth All-American in Razorback program history when she was selected as an Honorable Mention performer by the AVCA. In addition to her national recognition, Norton was named the South Region and SEC Freshman of the Year, earned a spot on the All-SEC Second Team and claimed All-South Region Honorable Mention accolades. Norton also set an SEC record by earning six league Freshman of the Week awards, all of which came during conference play.

Joining Norton in a show of the Razorbacks' bright future was fellow freshman Amanda Anderson. The first commitment for Pulliza as Arkansas' head coach, Anderson was also a member of the SEC All-Freshman Team, with Norton. The two Razorbacks are the seventh and eighth SEC all-freshman selections for Arkansas. During the non-conference season, Anderson earned all-tournament honors at the TCU Invitational and the Arkansas Invitational, the latter resulting in the 6-2 middle blocker being named the SEC Freshman of the Week.

The youth movement continued to shine with the play of Cassie Clarke. Clarke stepped in to start the final four matches of the season for the Razorbacks. In her second career start, she totaled 66 assists in a five-set win at Alabama, the most by an SEC player during the 2009 season.

The Razorbacks graduated two seniors, Lindsay Scanlan and Kristin Seaton, from the 2009 team as both players eclipsed career milestones during the season. At setter, Scanlan moved into third place all-time on the program's list with 2,825 career assists. Seaton eclipsed the 600-kill mark and ended her career at Arkansas with 667 kills, moving into 19th on the program's all-time list.

Four television appearances highlighted the Razorbacks' conference schedule. Three of the four matches came against ranked opponents, including a five-set showdown with then-No. 19 LSU at Barnhill Arena. The Razorbacks battled back from a two-set deficit to force a decisive fifth and came up just short of the upset, but the television audience was witness to the budding talent of the young Arkansas team.

In reflection of the team's play during the season, the Razorback fans created a high-energy environment inside Barnhill Arena. The atmosphere came to a peak when more than 1,000 fans witnessed Arkansas' five-set win over Alabama. In the team's longest match of the season, Arkansas rallied from a fifth-set hole and saved three match points before coming through for the victory. In addition to their home crowds, the Razorbacks played in front of 1,606 fans at Kentucky and 2,850 fans at Florida.

Building on his base of youth and talent, Pulliza added five players—Alex Fitzmorris, Hayley Koop, Clarissa Pavey, Raymariely Santos and Charmaine Whitmore—in the initial November signing period. All five will join the Razorbacks as true freshman in 2010. Arkansas also added Adriana Vazquez, a transfer from Hampton University, who joined the team, along with Fitzmorris, for the 2010 spring season. With no seniors to graduate from next year's team, future of Arkansas volleyball is now.

SPRING SEASON

After the individual workout portion of the offseason, the Razorbacks hit the road for the beginning of their 2010 spring exhibition season. Arkansas spent the first two weekends training in Houston during Spring Break. The Razorbacks played in the 5th Annual Texas Tornados College Spring Tournament, followed by a five-team event at Rice. They returned to Fayetteville to host the 2010 Alumni Match at Barnhill Arena and closed out the spring with a home match against Missouri State. Sandwiched in between the two home dates was a trip to Overland Park, Kan., and a tournament played at Blue Valley West High School.

Arkansas' challenging spring slate featured six teams--Baylor, Miami, Rice, Saint Louis, Texas A&M and Wichita State--all of which played in the 2009 NCAA Tournament.

Date	Event	Location
March 19-20	Texas Tornados Tournament (New Mexico State, SMU, Wichita State)	Houston, Texas
March 26-27	Rice Tournament (Baylor, Miami, Rice, Texas A&M)	Houston, Texas
April 3	Alumni Match	Barnhill Arena
April 17	Blue Valley West Tournament (Creighton, Kansas State, Saint Louis)	Overland Park, Kan.
April 24	Missouri State	Barnhill Arena

The Razorbacks opened the exhibition season with three wins at the Texas Tornados College Spring Tournament with victories over New Mexico State, SMU and Wichita State. Kelli Stipanovich totaled 21 kills over the course of the three matches and Jasmine Norton tallied 16 putaways against SMU.

"I feel our offense, led by Cassie Clarke, came through in some clutch situations," head coach Robert Pulliza said following the tournament. "I also think our new defensive system is going to be very good for our team as we have already seen good results during the weekend."

The tournament also featured the first competition action for newcomers Alex Fitzmorris and Adriana Vazquez, both of whom joined the team in January.

The following weekend, Arkansas turned to Norton and Kendall Cleveland to lead the offensive attack at the Rice Tournament. Each player had nine kills in the opener against the host Owls. In the second match of the day, Norton and Cleveland put away 12 and 10 kills, respectively, in a three-set battle with Baylor. Mackenzie Rhea, in the libero role, had 15 digs to pace the defense. Norton and Cleveland each posted nine kills in the finale against Texas A&M.

All three of the Razorbacks' opponents during the day played in the NCAA Tournament during the previous season.

"Jasmine Norton and Kendal Cleveland were tremendous throughout the day," Pulliza said. "Mackenzie Rhea was also very good in the libero jersey and we are excited to see her progress."

Playing their first home match during the spring season, the Razorbacks capped Alumni Weekend with a match against former players in front of approximately 100 fans at Barnhill. The two teams played four sets with the current Razorbacks coming away with wins in each frame.

The Alumni roster included Kim (Storey) Chronister (1995-98), Kelli Cole (2004-07), Jessica Dorrell (2004-07), Christina Lawrence (2004-08), Ashley Miller (2004-07), Jessica (Field) Phelan (1995-98), Kristin Seaton (2005-09) and Jenny (Rangelova) Kirk (2000-01). Destiny Clark (2005-08) and Anna (Velikanova) Vester (2000-02) were also in attendance but did not play.

"It's always fun to have the alumni back," Pulliza said. "It's always a great time having former players come back to where they played and seeing all the players, past and present, interact with each other before having some fun on the court."

After a successful weekend at the Blue Valley West Tournament in Overland Park, Kan., Arkansas capped its spring schedule on its home court against Missouri State. The Razorbacks came away with a five-set victory in front of their home fans.

Leading the way from her outside hitter position, Norton totaled 25 kills with a .400 hitting percentage against the Bears. The Razorbacks also got strong contribution from their middle hitters. Amanda Anderson finished the match with 13 kills and a team-high .473 hitting percentage, while Allison Johnson hit at a .434 clip with 12 kills.

Defensively, the Razorbacks were paced by Rhea and her 17 digs. Norton added 13 digs to complete a double-double effort and Stipanovich was also strong behind the block with 12 digs of her own.

"I am very pleased with the way we competed and with our progress as a team in the spring," Pulliza said. "Our middles did a great job and Jasmine was outstanding (against Missouri State). We did a great job passing the ball and it showed in our offensive numbers."

The Razorbacks matched a program high with four television appearances in 2009, including their five-set battle against No. 19 LSU at Barnhill Arena.

1,000-KILL CLUB

Adding the sport in 1994, the University of Arkansas has a short, 16-year history of volleyball. In that time, 13 Razorbacks have tallied 1,000 or more kills. Here's a look at those special players and their numbers. Two players, Krystal Osborne and Denise Baez, were members of the inaugural team in 1994. Another, Christina Lawrence, completed her eligibility during the 2008 season. All 13 players were named to the All-Southeastern Conference team at least once during their career with Jessica Field and Kim Storey earning American Volleyball Coaches Association All-America honors in 1997 and 1998, respectively. In addition, five members of the 1,000-kill club--Krystal Osborne, Yarleen Santiago, Kim Storey, Denitza Koleva and Denise Baez--tallied at least 1,000 digs during their respective Razorback careers.

Ashley Miller moved into top spot in 2007 and holds every digs record at Arkansas. Miller held the SEC career digs record until the 2009 season; she is now No. 2 on the conference's all-time list. She is one of three players in SEC history to collect 2,000 or more career digs. In addition to Miller, Krystal Osborne, Yarleen Santiago, Kim Storey, Tina Rico, Denitz Koleva and Denise Baez all had more than 1,000 digs during their Arkansas careers.

Ashley Miller set the Arkansas school record for career digs in game two against Kansas State at the Varney's KSU Invitational Sept. 7, in Manhattan, Kan. The Vacaville, Calif., native finished the match with 1,693 career digs sliding by former Razorback Krystal Osborne (1994-97) who finished her career with 1,659. Miller's successful season continued as she broke the Southeastern Conference career digs record several weeks later in a five-game come-from-behind win at Georgia. Miller entered the match with 2,033 and finished the contest with 25 erasing the SEC record formerly held by Kentucky's Jenni Casper who had 2,037. Miller finished the year with a single-season record 570 digs and career record 2,126 - more than 467 career digs than the second-place spot. In addition, she holds the career digs per game record with a 4.40 mark and the single match record with 36 set against Ole Miss in 2006.

ARKANSAS IN THE POSTSEASON

"We're in!! We're in!!" was the cry in 1996 when a three-year old Arkansas volleyball team made its first appearance in the NCAA Tournament.

The young program was honored to have been selected to the field of 48 teams and was surprised to learn they would host the first round due to a scheduling conflict for their opponent.

Rhode Island made the trip to Fayetteville and battled Arkansas valiantly before falling in a five-set battle, 15-12, 15-8, 12-15, 9-15, 15-11.

The victory sent Arkansas to Lincoln, Neb., where they faced defending national champion Nebraska in a four-game thriller. Arkansas lost the match, 15-8, 12-15, 15-7, 15-7, but not before they won the hearts of the volleyball-savvy Cornhuskers fan, players and coaching staff.

The field expanded and Arkansas was again selected for the NCAA Tournament. But this time it was no surprise. The Razorbacks had done the impossible, knocking off No. 4 Florida in the Southeastern Conference Tournament finals, 15-7, 15-7, 17-15, in Athens, Ga., to receive the automatic bid.

Again selected to host, Arkansas hardly broke a sweat downing in-state rival Arkansas-Little Rock in straight sets, 15-11, 15-3, 15-3, advancing to the second round.

Notre Dame came to Fayetteville with upset on its mind and did just that, eliminating the Razorbacks in front of the home crowd in four games, 15-9, 7-15, 10-15, 14-16.

Arkansas received its third consecutive invitation to the NCAA Tournament in 1998 and took its game to a new level.

The Razorbacks were again selected to host first- and second-round matches, and with the bitter taste of the previous season's loss to Notre Dame still fresh in their mouths, Arkansas rose to the challenge.

The Razorbacks opened with a first-round win over New Hampshire, 15-3, 15-0, 15-13, in Barnhill Arena. The second round saw the Razorbacks crush Indiana, 15-8, 15-5, 15-4, sending them to Gainesville, Fla., where Arkansas faced a tough postseason team in Hawai'i.

The Rainbow Wahine handed Arkansas a 3-0 loss but not before senior Kim Storey made a name for herself, earning East Regional All-Tournament Team honors and becoming the second AVCA All-American in program history.

Selected to the field of 64 in 1999, Arkansas faced their first-round match on the road for the first time in school history.

The Razorbacks found themselves in Long Beach, Calif., where they opened with a first-round victory over Georgetown, 15-3, 10-15, 15-1, 15-6. They had the unenviable task of facing the defending national champion in the second round for the second time in four trips, falling to host Long Beach State, 6-15, 6-15, 11-15, to be eliminated.

The 2001 season marked a return to NCAA postseason play for a young Razorback team. Arkansas struggled in the opening two weeks of the season with a particularly bad showing against Kansas State in the Wildcat Classic. The volleyball gods gave Arkansas a chance to redeem itself, sending the Razorbacks back to Manhattan, Kan., for a first-round matchup with Kansas State.

Arkansas lost the match but not before gaining a new sense of respect from Kansas State and its fans as the Razorbacks pushed the host team to five games, narrowly missing the game-five win.

It was back to the Dance for the Razorbacks in 2003 with a return trip to Manhattan, Kan., for first- and second-round action. Arkansas avenged an early season loss to No. 23 Southwest Missouri, downing the Bears in four games, but fell to host and sixth-ranked Wildcats in three games. Arkansas hit .232 behind 11 kills from freshmen Denitza Koleva and Kele Brewer. The Razorbacks added 11 team blocks in the loss.

Selection to the 2004 NCAA Tournament may be one of the more rewarding bids in program history. The Razorbacks faced one of the nation's toughest schedules and the team's won-loss record reflected the challenges. But the gamble by head coach Chris Poole paid off as the team was selected to the field of 64 for its seventh NCAA Tournament appearance.

Arkansas traveled to Columbia, Mo., to face No. 16 Missouri on the Tigers' home court in the first round. The Razorbacks fell in four games, 28-30, 21-30, 30-25, 26-30, in a hard-fought battle that saw sophomore Kele Brewer tally a team-leading 17 kills. Freshman Ashley Miller added 24 digs in the first-round setback.

Arkansas made its third consecutive postseason appearance, once again traveling to Columbia, Mo., in December. Arkansas' invitation was one of six extended to the Southeastern Conference, the most ever for the league. Also making NCAA Tournament appearances were Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, LSU and Tennessee. The Lady Vols advanced to the national semifinals before being eliminated.

The Razorbacks opened their tournament with St. Mary's of California in a match that was nearly even on paper. Both teams were known as solid blocking programs and both had similar offensive numbers but Arkansas emerged as the night's victor. The Razorbacks dominated the contest, outhitting St. Mary's, .358-.111, and outblocking the Gaels, 14-0-5-0, in the three-game win.

Senior Karla Crose hit a match-best .857 with six kills and no errors on seven attempts. She also led the match with 10 block assists in the win. Junior Amy Allison added a seven-kill, .538-hitting percentage effort while junior Denitza Koleva led Arkansas with 11 kills.

The victory moved Arkansas into the second round where it faced host team and 10th-ranked Missouri for a second consecutive season.

Missouri got the best of Arkansas, ending the careers of seniors Crose and Iva Docekalo-va. Kele Brewer paced the Razorbacks with 10 kills in the loss.

Not only did Arkansas get into the NCAA Tournament in 2006, but the Razorbacks were selected as a surprise host after higher-seeded Oklahoma was unable to accommodate the tournament. Arkansas was eliminated in the first round by Missouri State, ending the careers of seniors Denitza Koleva, Kele Brewer and Amy Allison. The trio of Razorbacks were the first class in program history to attend the NCAA Tournament all four seasons they played at Arkansas.

SANTIAGO ON THE BEACH

Players leave college and go on to all kinds of exciting and challenging careers but very few have the chance to continue in their sport at a professional or international level.

Former Razorback Yarleen Santiago has done just that.

Santiago played for Arkansas from 1997-99 and went on to continue with the sport she loves in her native Puerto Rico.

A member of the Puerto Rican Junior National and National teams, Santiago is now a professional sand volleyball player.

She and partner Dariam Acevedo have reached the pinnacle of the sport and reached the No. 1 ranking in their home country of Puerto Rico.

The Puerto Rican duo captured two titles during the 2009-10 NORCECA sand season. During the year, Santiago and Acevedo won their first title of the season in November at the Nicaragua event. The long-time partners followed that with a victory at the Boca Chica Beach Volleyball Tournament in the Dominican Republic in April.

Santiago also played for the Puerto Rican National Teams. Some of her career highlights include a 12th place finish at the 2002 World Championship, a sixth-place finish at the 2004 Olympic Qualifier, a fifth-place showing at the 2006 Pan-American Cup and a bronze medal at the 2006 Central America and Caribbean Games.

While at Arkansas, Santiago was one of the most recognizable players for her athleticism and skill.

She finished her career with 1,342 kills ranking sixth all-time. Santiago averaged 3.64 kills per game, hit .270, had 105 service aces, 1,277 digs, 393 total blocks and scored 1,673.5 career points for the Razorbacks.

Santiago was a three-time All-Southeastern Conference selection, twice being named to the league's first team. During her collegiate career, the Razorbacks tallied an 89-19 record with a 41-4 mark in conference play, and in 1997, Arkansas captured the SEC Tournament title. Santiago also helped the Razorbacks to three NCAA Tournament appearances.

The Southeastern Conference continues to flourish as a solid and competitive league in women's collegiate volleyball.

In comparison to the previous season, the Razorbacks enjoyed a three-win improvement during conference play in 2009. Arkansas finished third in the Western Division, and seventh overall, with its 7-13 record against SEC opponents; with ties, the Razorbacks had the fifth-best record in the league.

For her outstanding season on the court, Jasmine Norton was selected the SEC Freshman of the Year by the league's coaches. She became the fourth Razorback in program history to earn the award. Norton improved on her already strong numbers with an SEC-best 4.41 kills per set during league play en route to earning six SEC Freshman of the Week honors, all of which came during the conference season.

Norton was also named to the All-SEC Second Team and joined teammate Amanda Anderson on the SEC All-Freshman Team. Norton is the 21st player in program history to be named to either the first or second team, while she and Anderson are the seventh and eighth all-freshman selections. Cassie Clarke also emerged as a successful freshman for the Razorbacks. Starting the final four matches as the team's setter, Clarke dished out an SEC-best 66 assists in a Nov. 20 matchup with Auburn.

In the last two decades, the SEC has made stellar contributions in volleyball. The conference has sent at least two SEC teams to the NCAA Tournament in every season the last 20 years. The SEC had a team reach the Final Four seven of the 10 seasons in the '90s with the league having a team advance to the regional final nine of those 10 seasons. Since 2000, the SEC has had a team reach the Final Four three times and regional final four times.

In 2009, the LSU Tigers won the SEC title, their fifth in program history, first since 1991. The win by LSU snapped an 18-year reign of the Florida Gators. The SEC sent four teams to the NCAA Tournament: Florida, Kentucky, LSU and Tennessee. Kentucky and Tennessee both advanced to the Regional rounds.

Since the inaugural SEC volleyball championship in 1979-80, many changes have occurred in the conference with volleyball. The addition of Arkansas and South Carolina to the league in 1991 brought the divisional format to the sport with five teams competing in the Eastern Division and six teams in the Western Division.

In 2009, the SEC entered into an unprecedented TV agreement with ESPN that provided exclusive coverage of SEC athletics. With the arrangement, SEC volleyball is now broadcast on three different platforms: ESPNU, FS South/Southwest/Sun Sports and CSS and has more exposure than any other league. Live SEC volleyball coverage can now reach into 73 million homes nationwide on ESPNU, and in the SEC nine-state region, 25 million homes on FS South/Southwest/Sun Sports, and 11 million homes on CSS.

Arkansas will make two television appearances as part of the 2010 SEC volleyball television schedule. The Razorbacks will take on defending SEC champion LSU in an Oct. 13 matchup on ESPNU. CSS will then carry Arkansas' Nov. 14 meeting with Tennessee. Combined, the networks affiliated with the conference television package will broadcast 17 live SEC volleyball matches during the 2010 season.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS A PORTRAIT OF THE STATE'S FLAGSHIP, LAND-GRANT UNIVERSITY

The University of Arkansas, the flagship campus of the University of Arkansas System, resides on a former hilltop farm overlooking the Ozark Mountains to the south. At the University's founding in 1871, the site was described as "second to none in the state of Arkansas."

Located in Fayetteville, the university is both the major land-grant university for Arkansas and the state university. The university was created under the Morrill Land-Grant College Act of 1862, whereby federal land sales provided funds for new colleges devoted to agriculture and the mechanic arts, scientific and classical studies, and military tactics, all designed for the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes. The university's founding satisfied the provision in the Arkansas Constitution of 1868 that the General Assembly establish and maintain a state university.

Citizens in Fayetteville and surrounding Washington County raised $130,000 to secure the university's location in a state-wide competition sparked by the General Assembly's Organic Act of 1871, providing for the "location, organization and maintenance of the Arkansas Industrial University with a normal department [i.e., teacher education] therein."

Today, the University of Arkansas encompasses more than 130 buildings on 345 acres and provides nearly 200 academic programs, more than some universities twice its size. At the same time, it maintains a low student-to-faculty ratio (currently 17:1) that makes personal attention possible. The university promotes undergraduate research in virtually every discipline and makes higher education affordable with competitively priced tuition and generous financial aid.

WORLD-CLASS FACULTY

The campus culture places high value on excellent teaching. At this mainly residential campus, the faculty numbers nearly 1,000, of which almost 95 percent are full-time. Nine of every 10 faculty members hold either a doctorate or terminal degree in their field, and more than 65 percent of the faculty is tenured.

The instructional mission is aided by the Cordes Teaching and Faculty Support Center, a program run by faculty for faculty. The center involves as many as 400 faculty and nearly 200 teaching assistants per year in regularly scheduled programs, seminars, workshops and an annual off-campus teaching retreat as well as individual assistance to update and enhance their teaching methods.

This emphasis is reinforced by the University of Arkansas Teaching Academy, which consists of faculty recognized by their peers, colleges and the larger university for teaching excellence. In 2000, the academy began producing Inquiry,

OLD MAIN

One of the original buildings of Arkansas' campus, Old Main symbolizes the strong connection to the past and the focus upon the future which come together in the present at the University of Arkansas. Completed in 1876, Old Main stood the test of time until the mid-1980s when age and modern building codes threatened to send it to the wrecking ball as it did its sister building at the University of Illinois. A major fund-raising campaign by alumni totally renovated Old Main. Reopening in 1992, the building maintains the feel of a Victorian-era building with high ceilings and elaborate wooden trim. Just below the surface of the period hardwood floors, Old Main is hard-wired to the internet and built to last well into its second century.

Even with renovation, Old Main remained unfinished until 2006. One of the gifts during the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century specified the installation of a clock, originally planned for the blank faces of the south tower.

As mentioned, Old Main was built from shared plans with its counterpart on the Illinois campus, with one important difference. The north tower of Arkansas' Old Main is taller than the south tower. Legend says this was symbolic of the Civil War as the lead engineer was a northern veteran.

the first undergraduate research journal published by an Arkansas institution of higher learning.

WORLD-CLASS FACILITIES

Over $700 million in construction projects were completed on campus in the past decade, are now under construction or are in the planning stages. These include plans to upgrade or renovate several of our historic buildings. The university is also engaged in an ambitious program to improve the energy efficiency of 35 of our buildings, in an on-going effort to create a sustainable campus.

WORLD-CLASS SUPPORT

Investment in the future is critical, and the unprecedented Campaign for the Twenty-First Century that concluded in 2006 resulted in a billion dollar infusion of gifts to the University of Arkansas. The effort included the largest single gift to a U.S. public university in the history of American philanthropy: a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Trust. Primary among the programs created by the Walton gift was the designation of $200 million toward the establishment of the Honors College.

That kind of commitment from the state and the region is not uncommon. It was the effort of the city of Fayetteville and Washington County in submitting the highest bid to the state in the 1870s that resulted in the University of Arkansas opening its doors here on Jan. 22, 1872.

SENIOR WALK

The University of Arkansas is proud to be the last university in the nation maintaining what once was a common tradition of etching its graduates' names into the campus sidewalks. The 100,000th graduate's name went down in cement during the 1990s. The names on Senior Walk stretch over five miles of campus sidewalks.

The story of Senior Walk is a perfect example of how the University of Arkansas brings its commitment to the past together with innovations for the future. When the costs involved in hand-etching names into concrete forced numerous other universities to give up, the University of Arkansas turned to its physical plant and engineering school grads to create a one-of-a-kind computerized sandblasting machine -- the SandHog. Each summer, the SandHog roars across the front lawn of Old Main, etching the names of graduates into sidewalks.

TEN COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS: ONE UNIVERSITY

The University has five colleges, four schools and a global campus to provide a wide range of majors, from agricultural business to biological engineering, from architecture to nursing, from transportation and logistics to international relations, all taught by nationally acclaimed faculty.

A program in nanoscience that combines students and faculty in physics and engineering has made the university the leader in production of nanomaterials for universities across the country.

No matter what students choose to study the University of Arkansas has the programs, the faculty and the facilities to prepare them for the careers they want in the future.

RESEARCH

DISCOVERY THAT IS MAKING LIFE BETTER FOR ARKANSAS AND THE WORLD

The Carnegie Foundation categorizes the University of Arkansas as a research institution with “high research activity,” placing it among the top 10 percent of universities nationwide. In simple terms, the university is in the top tier of 150 research universities among the nation’s more than 4,000 post-secondary institutions — and growing in research activity and expenditures each year.

As a land-grant and state university, the institution considers research, scholarship and creative endeavor — all leading to the advancement of knowledge — a significant component of its primary mission. The university’s faculty members are active researchers and scholars who consistently attract international attention in the arts, sciences, humanities, technology, business and education.

Research expenditures at the University of Arkansas for fiscal year now exceed $117 million per year, making research activity a significant academic element at the university and an economic engine for the state. It’s also not uncommon anymore for research awards to the university to rise at double-digit percentage rates, and such awards also are approaching the $100 million level.

In addition to the work performed by faculty through individual and collaborative efforts in their academic departments, special research and outreach programs — often interdisciplinary — are conducted in approximately 50 centers and organized research units around campus.

AMONG THE LEADING-EDGE CENTERS AND RESEARCH ACTIVITIES:

- The RFID Research Center laboratory conducts research in the most efficient use of radio frequency identification and other wireless sensor technologies throughout the supply chain, with a particular emphasis on the retail supply chain. Positioned in northwest Arkansas at the epicenter of retail activity, the RFID Research Center laboratory is a multidisciplinary “supply chain in a box” devoted to examining the technology as used in retail, storeroom and warehouse environments.
- The Center for Sensing Technology and Research features a 9.4 Tesla Fourier transform mass spectrometer, which uses a high-powered magnet that improves the resolution of images of molecules and provides detailed information about their structure. Coupled with other instruments in the High Performance Mass Spectrometry Laboratory, the mass spectrometer offers high-resolution laser desorption mass spectrometry, which is not available at any other public laboratory in the country.

- The Chemical Hazards Research Center has the largest ultra-low-speed boundary layer wind tunnel in the world. The wind tunnel simulates releases of heavier-than-air gases into the atmosphere. It has been used to simulate potential disasters and to trace the path of disasters that have occurred, such as the catastrophic 1984 Union Carbide leak in Bhopal, India.

- The High Density Electronics Center has established itself as one of the top electronics packaging research and education facilities in the world. HiDEC has executed contracts from government and industry totaling more than $30 million. Projects have ranged from multi-chip module design to the development and evaluation of new technologies and electronic products.

- The Center for Advanced Spatial Technologies has been recognized nationally for its data storage and retrieval warehouse, GeoStor, by the Urban & Regional Information Systems Association. The center works with people across campus in various disciplines, offering researchers the latest in innovative technologies. This has led to interdisciplinary collaboration in fields as diverse as engineering, agriculture, anthropology and sociology.

POINTS OF PRIDE

THE DISTINCTIVE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

UNIQUE TRADITIONS

Starting on Old Main's front step with the year 1876, the names of the more than 125,000 graduates have been chiseled into more than two miles of campus walkways, grouped by year of graduation. It's not uncommon to see alumni strolling Senior Walk to rediscover their own names and fond memories of accomplishment and fun.

Old Main, the university's signature building, designed in Second Empire architectural style, has come to symbolize higher education in Arkansas. Old Main is one of 11 campus buildings on the National Register of Historic Places. Today, it is the home to the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Science, the largest academic college within the University of Arkansas.

The Inn at Carnall Hall and Ella's Restaurant comprise the university's own on-campus hospitality center. The beautiful, 50-room historic inn and five-star restaurant are both overseen by the hospitality and restaurant management academic program in the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences. Carnall Hall was built in 1905 as the university's first women's residence hall. The building was named after Ella Carnall, one of the campus' first female faculty members.

THE FULBRIGHT LEGACY

Since its founding, the University of Arkansas has compiled a remarkable record of scientific, technological, intellectual and creative accomplishment. This accomplishment is exemplified by the late U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright, a Rhodes Scholar as a student and eventual president of the university (1939-41). Fulbright went on to serve at the national level, founding in 1946 the greatest international exchange program for faculty and students in the world.

Fulbright's injunction for academia guides the University of Arkansas to this day: "The highest function of higher education is the teaching of things in perspective, toward the purposes of enriching the life of the individual, cultivating the free and inquiring mind and advancing the effort to bring reason, justice and humanity into the relations of men and nations."

and extension program similar to the one that had been so successful in modernizing agriculture in the United States.

CHANGING THE WORLD

Some internationally significant ways that the University has – and is – changing the world:

- Barnett Sure, a University of Arkansas professor of agricultural chemistry, pioneered nutrition research that led to the co-discovery of vitamin E, a vitamin high in antioxidants. His work also led to understanding of how vitamin E, amino acids and B vitamins affect reproduction and lactation.

- As world population grew during the 20th century, so did the contribution of research at the University of Arkansas. Marinus C. Kik, a professor of agricultural chemistry from 1927 to 1967, developed the process for parboiling rice, one of the most plentiful grains in undeveloped parts of the world. Kik's process increased retention of vitamins and shortened cooking time.

- In 1948, Silas Hunt became the first black person to integrate a traditionally white Southern university, enrolling in the University of Arkansas School of Law six years before the Brown v. Board of Education decision. Likewise, Edith Irby Jones soon after became the first black graduate from a Southern university, attaining her medical degree from the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences. Both acts happened without litigation or protest.

- When John Pople and Walter Kohn received the 1998 Nobel Prize in Chemistry, they cited the research of University of Arkansas chemist Peter Pulay as the building block for their

The University of Arkansas has long been an institution of strong international orientation. In 1951, under U.S. State Department auspices, the University became the first land-grant institution in the nation to assemble an agricultural foreign mission. The object of that mission was to assist Panama in establishing an agricultural teaching, research prize-winning work. Early in his career, Pulay developed techniques for determining the shape and size of molecules that would permanently change the way scientists study matter. Today his approach is used by theoretical chemists around the world to determine the geometry of large, biologically important molecules.

- Two professors and a university alumnus – Harold Dulan, E.J. Ball and Lewis Callison – created the nation's first commercial variable annuity life insurance company, later bought by Aetna Insurance. Today, variable annuities are used worldwide in estate planning for participation in economic growth and as a hedge against inflation.

- In 1950, the University of Arkansas built the first American facility to integrate the study of fine arts. Edward Durell Stone, a former student who was by then an internationally recognized architect, designed the Fine Arts Center and followed on this early effort later to design the Kennedy Center for Arts in Washington, D.C. Other universities and colleges also followed Arkansas' example, developing cross-curricular exchanges so that artists, musicians, actors and designers could learn from each other and draw inspiration from other similar disciplines.

- Chemistry professor Paul Kuroda predicted that self-sustaining nuclear chain reactions could have occurred naturally in earth's geologic history. His prediction was later confirmed when scientists discovered a natural nuclear reactor in Gabon, Africa. In 1960, he predicted the existence of Plutonium-244 as an element present during the solar system's formation. Confirmation of his theory enabled scientists to more accurately date the sequence of events in the solar system's early history.

- The Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing, a 60-hour program launched at the University of Arkansas in 1966, has grown into one of the most productive and highly ranked programs of its kind in America. Founded by English professors William Harrison and James Whitehead, later joined by Miller Williams, the program was an early catalyst in the transformation of the traditional study of literature into a demanding training ground for writers.

- University of Arkansas plant pathologists George Templeton, Roy Smith, David TeBeest and graduate student Jim Daniels conducted research in the early 1970s that led to the first biological herbicide for weed control in a field crop, later called Collego. Their work to avoid chemical herbicides led to worldwide development of safer biological herbicides and establishment of the Rosen Center for Alternative Pest Control at the University of Arkansas.

- Physics professors Allen Hermann and Zhengzhi Sheng mixed up a thallium-based material in 1988 that set the world's highest temperature at which superconductivity could be sustained, leading to new advances in the manufacture of high-density electronics. Their patented material held the record for more than five years while researchers around the world raced to catch up.

- Professor Dwight Isely of the department of entomology is considered the father of insect pest management in the United States. His research identified the weak point in the life cycle of insects that made them particularly susceptible to control strategies. Through his work on cotton insect pests, the codling moth, the striped cucumber beetle, the southern corn rootworm and the rice water weevil, American Agriculture saved millions of dollars.

- Engineering professors at the University of Arkansas invented the next-best thing to the zip code – the wide-area bar code reader, which became the most widely implemented automated mail-sorting equipment in the world. By 2000, more than 15,000 bar code readers were used in every major Postal Service facility, increasing the efficiency of processing 20 billion pieces of mail a year at a savings of $200 million.

- Former President William Jefferson Clinton and Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton started their careers as faculty members of the University of Arkansas in the mid-1970s. While a law professor, Mr. Clinton made his first runs for political office, getting elected as the Arkansas attorney general in 1976. Mrs. Clinton founded the university's legal clinic, which still provides law students a chance to work with clients on legal problems.

CHANCELLOR

DR. G. DAVID GEARHART

Dr. G. David Gearhart became the fifth chancellor of the University of Arkansas on July 1, 2008, following 10 years of service to the university in his capacity as vice chancellor for university advancement. During that decade leading up to his appointment as the campus' chief executive, he was the architect of the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century – the largest, most successful capital campaign in Arkansas history, which raised more than $1 billion for academic programs and increased the endowment from $119 million to almost $900 million.

A native of Fayetteville, Ark., Chancellor Gearhart was born and raised in the shadow of Old Main. An alumnus of the university whose name is twice inscribed on Senior Walk for the law degree (J.D.) and doctor of education degree (Ed.D.) he earned, Gearhart feels that his entire adult life has prepared him for this singular honor and challenge.

"I believe the ultimate success of the University of Arkansas will be measured to a large extent on how it demonstrates its usefulness to society," Gearhart says. "Of all of the rich contributions that America has bestowed on the world, American higher education is among the most important. Our colleges and universities have become, perhaps, the most vital expression of the American political and social philosophy."

The path that would lead him back to his alma mater began in 1976, when Gearhart became assistant to the president at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., where he received his baccalaureate two years earlier. In 1977, he was appointed the director of development at Westminster and led fundraising efforts for The Winston Churchill Memorial and Library. Thus was launched a nationally respected career in university advancement.

In 1978, he returned to his native state to become vice president for development at Hendrix College. After four years at Hendrix, Gearhart returned home for the first time when he was selected to be the director of development at the University of Arkansas. In this role, he spearheaded the Campaign for Books, which added more than 100,000 volumes to the University of Arkansas Library.

In 1985, Gearhart took another career leap in being appointed vice president for development and university relations at The Pennsylvania State University. Three years later, he was promoted to senior vice president, responsible for the external relations programs for 23 campuses statewide. While at Penn State, he launched a major capital campaign, which raised in excess of $352 million. Total private gifts to Penn State during his 11 years at the university surpassed $950 million, and Gearhart's division was cited three times by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) with its grand gold medal, awarded to the nation's top advancement program.

In 1995, Gearhart joined the international consulting firm of Grenzebach, Glier, and Associates as senior vice president and managing director, but stayed closely connected to advancing the mission of higher education. The Chicago-based philanthropic management firm has hundreds of clients in the United States, Canada and Europe, and fundraising goals in excess of $40 billion. Clients managed by Gearhart included nearly two dozen non-profit organizations, colleges and universities, among them American University, Brigham Young University, Rutgers University, University of Alabama, University of Connecticut, University of Miami (Fla.), University of Pittsburgh and University of Washington.

In 1998 Gearhart once again returned to his native state as vice chancellor for university advancement at the University of Arkansas. He was responsible for development, alumni relations, constituent relations, special events and university relations programs. Arguably, his most significant impact in this role was the stunningly successful Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, a billion-dollar capital campaign that concluded in June 2005 with the University of Arkansas taking its place as one of only 13 public universities at that time to have exceeded a billion dollars raised.

The centerpiece of this campaign was a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation, the largest gift ever made to a public university. The direct results of Gearhart's leadership in this effort included the creation of 132 new endowed faculty positions, 1,738 new student scholarship and fellowship funds, dozens of new and renovated facilities and classrooms, and growth of the overall endowment from $119 million in 1998 to nearly $900 million by the time he assumed the chancellorship.

In every imaginable way, the university was transformed by this campaign.

"At the University of Arkansas our ultimate purpose is to improve the human condition, to make life better for our citizens and our state and to contribute to the general welfare of our nation," says Gearhart. "Thanks in part to the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, we've become recognized as a rising star as a major public research university in a state where higher education must play an increasingly larger role in the lives of its citizens. Working with our sister public institutions and in partnership with our own university system, we must work hard and smart to increase the college participation rate and to strengthen the quality of Arkansas' higher education. We must be seen as enthusiastic leaders in this venture, all in a time of diminished public resources nationally that will not make it easy, but a challenge that we at the university must embrace."

Gearhart was named a distinguished alumnus of his undergraduate alma mater, Westminster College, in 1992, and the same year was named a Fulbright Scholar and studied at Oxford University, Merton College in Oxford, England.

In 1996, he was named an honorary alumnus of Penn State, where he finished his doctoral coursework in higher education administration.

In addition to his responsibilities as chancellor, Gearhart is a tenured member of the faculty in the College of Education and Health Professions, holding the rank of professor. A nationally respected expert in capital campaigns, he is the author of two books, The Capital Campaign in Higher Education and Philanthropy, Fund Raising and the Capital Campaign, as well as numerous articles.

Among his current professional affiliations, Gearhart serves as vice president of the University of Arkansas Fayetteville Campus Foundation, is a member of the board of advisors for the Arkansas World Trade Center, is a member of the Northwest Arkansas Council, and is a member of the advisory board of the Pryor Center for Oral and Visual History. He also is a licensed attorney in the state of Arkansas.

Gearhart is married to the former Jane Brockmann and they have two children. Their daughter Katy Hunt is a graduate of Penn State University and is married to Dr. Justin Hunt. They have a son, Ben. The Hunts live in Little Rock. The Gearharts' son Brock is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and is vice president of Greenwood Gearhart Inc. of Fayetteville. His wife Lindsey is a teacher.

Gearhart's late father, George A. Gearhart, was publisher of the Northwest Arkansas Times in Fayetteville. His mother, Joan Gearhart Havens, lives in Fayetteville.

"I have many dreams and aspirations that I've long held for the University of Arkansas," Gearhart says, "and I look forward in the months and years ahead to sharing that vision and working with our outstanding students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends, and certainly the board of trustees, on reaching our lofty goals and realizing the full potential of our university."

DR. SHARON HUNT FACULTY ATHLETIC REPRESENTATIVE

Chancellor G. David Gearhart has appointed Dr. Sharon Hunt to be the faculty athletics representative for the University of Arkansas in August 2010.

Dr. Hunt is the first woman and non-lawyer to hold the post. Dr. Hunt has been on the University of Arkansas faculty for 20 years and has served as head of the department of health science, kinesiology, recreation and dance in the College of Education and Health Professions for that entire time except for the 2000-01 academic year, when she served as interim dean of the college.

A high school athlete, Hunt's involvement with collegiate athletics dates back to her own college days at the University of Arkansas when she played extramural sports with the women's basketball and tennis teams prior to the enactment of Title IX.

After receiving her bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from the university, she went on to earn a doctor of education degree from the University of Georgia, where she taught a variety of sport-activity courses as a graduate assistant. Upon the completion of her doctoral degree, she joined the faculty of the University of Kentucky for 13 years, where she taught both undergraduate and graduate courses and served as the graduate coordinator for the department of health, physical education and recreation. In 1990, she and her family returned to Fayetteville.

Dr. Hunt will work closely with the athletic department, will be involved in the student-athlete advisory council on campus and will travel to represent the University of Arkansas at various SEC and NCAA meetings.

Dr. Hunt was instrumental in establishing the graduate athletic training education program in the College of Education and Health Professions, and she has worked closely with athletics on that program. The athletics department provides support to students in the athletic training education program in the form of a stipend, books and travel to the Arkansas Athletic Trainers' Association annual meeting. Two endowed scholarships for athletic training students in honor of longtime Razorback trainers Dean Weber and the late Bill Ferrell were established through the athletics department.

ACADEMICS

STUDENT - ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR SUCCESS AND ACHIEVEMENT

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND ACHIEVEMENT MISSION STATEMENT

The primary focus of the Razorback Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement Program is to provide the student-athlete with the opportunity to develop the skills necessary to be a success in college and in life. This is accomplished through superior academic counseling, life skills training and preparation to enter the job market upon graduation.

THE BOGLE ACADEMIC CENTER

There is no higher priority for the University of Arkansas Athletic Department than the academic progress of its scholar-athletes. Thanks to the generous gift of Bob and Marilyn Bogle, the home of the Razorback Athletic Department's Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement program is the Bob and Marilyn Bogle Academic Center. The 15,000-square foot Bogle Academic Center is located in the east side of Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium. Under the overall direction of Senior Associate Athletic Director Jon Fagg, the Bogle Academic Center houses the Arkansas Razorbacks Academic Support Program, the Razorback Office of Student Life and the Career Development Program.

Associate Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Support Services Melissa Harwood-Rom oversees the staff of professionals dedicated to directing student-athletes to reach their personal academic goals, and to do so in ways that balance their academic, athletic and personal lives.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND ACHIEVEMENT SERVICES

The Mission Statement for the Razorback Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement division -- SAASA -- speaks for itself, but the improvements and achievements of the Razorbacks over the past academic year are what is most important. At Arkansas, academic services are not just good grades and eligibility. Along with 18 of 19 teams exceeding the NCAA standard for APR, Razorbacks earned some of the highest conference and national academic honors in the 2009-10 year including a pair of Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athletes of the Year.

Academic accomplishment is important for all 19 teams at the University of Arkansas and the football team is no exception. The Razorbacks had 10 student-athletes recognized on the 2009 Southeastern Conference Fall Academic Honor Roll and had 22 named to the Athletic Department Academic Honor Roll.

It is also not about honoring the “A” student. Arkansas Athletics is committed to every single athlete improving his or her academic performance every semester, working to achieve academic “personal bests” with each class just the same as we would expect our athletes to hit personal records in competition.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS ACADEMIC GAME PLAN FOR GRADUATION

Student-athletes are expected to meet specific academic criteria in order to maintain eligibility. This is easily achieved by following the Academic Game Plan created by the Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement team.

The SAASA designs programs and sets specific goals to help student-athletes achieve academic success. An example of a key goal is the successful completion of 30 hours of coursework during each academic year. By maintaining this course load, Razorback athletes not only stay on track to graduate in four years, but easily meet eligibility requirements set by the NCAA.

STUDY HALL AND TUTORS

A quiet setting for uninterrupted study, the Bogle Academic Center provides three types of study hall space. The computer lab (above) has over 30 stations for individual computer-based study. An open study hall is available for group or individual study, and monitored by staff members of the SAASA. There are 17 individual study carrels that provide space for tutors to meet with student athletes for individual instruction in specific subjects.

Each Razorback team sets its own criteria for study hall attendance. The use of tutors is a key element for academic success, allowing for individualized assistance and for reaching academic excellence in advanced subjects.

If traveling with a team, student-athletes notify instructors early in each semester regarding assignments or exams.

STUDENT LIFE

The social and personal development of student-athletes is as important to the University of Arkansas as the academic and athletic achievement. The Office of Student Life focuses on the personal development and community service components of the NCAA CHAMPS/LifeSkills program. Training is provided in a variety of areas including financial planning, drug and alcohol education, time management, study skills and developing community service activities.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The purpose of the Career Development Program is to assist student-athletes in making a smooth transition from the University of Arkansas into the workplace. This process begins during the freshman year with a one-hour course on career options. Workshops are held to provide student-athletes training in resume writing, interviewing skills and etiquette. Individual assistance with locating summer internships and job placement gives student-athletes a head start into their chosen careers.

"The University of Arkansas isn't a huge university, but it has a huge reputation. My professors were concerned with my personal goals; concerned about how I wanted to develop as an individual. There is a great amount of one-on-one mentoring with the teachers. I think one of the greatest things about Arkansas is that you are an individual, a real person — not just an I.D. number — to the faculty and staff."

IN THE COMMUNITY

GIVING BACK TO NORTHWEST ARKANSAS AND THE WORLD

Community service is a vital part of the educational process for any college student, and Razorback athletes continued to make it a priority in 2009-10.

With guidance from the Student-Athlete Development office, Razorback student-athletes, coaches and staff members participating in a number of events throughout the year. Here's a brief look at some of those projects.

- ♦ Going out to area elementary schools to support the Book Hogs reading program and the Sweat Hogs physical education awareness program.
- ♦ Individual team projects ranging from volunteering at the Fayetteville Public Library, working with Habitat for Humanity, assisting with area shelters, helping the local youth programs like the Scouts, holiday shopping and meal programs and visiting area nursing homes.
- ♦ Teaming with Numana, Inc. for Razorback Relief: Operation Haiti, a 24-hour marathon to package, more than 1.4 million meals for the Haitian relief effort.

The quiet efforts of our 19 Razorback teams have a long-lasting impact on the youth of our state. The incredible positive benefit of the time spent by the Razorbacks helping the community pays tremendous dividends, not only for the University of Arkansas, but for the entire community.

And while we focus here on the positive benefits for the fresh young faces who receive an autograph or a kind word of encouragement from a Razorback, we know that there is a considerable impact upon our student-athletes, our future leaders. The opportunity to give back impresses upon them that no matter their personal circumstances when they arrived in Fayetteville, they have a chance to not only improve their lives, but touch the lives of others.

Several Razorbacks shared some putt-putt time with young fans as a part of Make a Difference Day. Razorback athletes from all sports participated in various community service activities across the city of Fayetteville.

At left: the Razorback men's basketball team served meals over the Thanksgiving holiday. Above: members of the Razorback gymnastics team take part in Razorback Relief: Operation Haiti helping to package more than 1.4 million meals in 24 hours.

Razorback student-athletes are regular speakers at both Book Hogs Read To Win and Sweat Hogs, a program that encourages physical fitness in the elementary schools.

Book Hogs is one of the largest department outreach programs. Razorback student-athletes are guest readers in elementary classrooms and there are contests for reading the most books with the winners recognized at Razorback sporting events.

VICE CHANCELLOR FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS AND DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Entering his third full year as Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics, Jeff Long has not only guided the University of Arkansas' Department of Intercollegiate Athletics through a period of unprecedented transition, he has transformed and revitalized a tradition-rich athletics program encompassing 19 sports and more than 460 student-athletes. Long has not only accepted, but embraced the challenge of leading a Razorback program that serves as a source of pride for so many at the University of Arkansas, in all corners of the state and to thousands of Razorbacks all around the world.

Long has established a multi-faceted combined athletics program uniformly committed to the development of student-athletes academically, athletically and socially. A part of Chancellor G. David Gearhart's Executive Committee, Long and other members of the campus leadership team are charged with developing policies and charting the course for the future of higher education at the University of Arkansas. Since his arrival, Long and his staff have re-engaged the athletic department with the university community working to more fully integrate Razorback Athletics into the campus environment. Razorback Athletics stepped forward with a $1 million gift to support the university's academic mission in 2009-10 which brought the department's support of the greater university community to nearly $4 million. The department has pledged another $1 million gift for 2010-11.

The success of Long's approach can be measured in part by the remarkable accomplishments of the Razorback program in his tenure. Arkansas has captured six conference championships and advanced to 40 NCAA post-season competitions while drawing more than a million fans annually to campus to cheer on the Razorbacks.

In the classroom, the Razorbacks exceed national APR multi-year rate standards in 18 of 19 sports. For the first time in program history, all 19 sports exceeded the yearly APR benchmark rate in the most recent report (2008-09). The academic success has coincided with a transformation of the program's academic achievement approach from maintaining eligibility to focusing on student-athlete advancement towards a college diploma.

In the community, Razorback student-athletes are more active than ever volunteering more than 2,500 hours of time in between the rigors of school and athletic practice and competition. Community outreach initiatives including Lift Up America, Book Hogs, Sweat Hogs, Razorback for a Day and Razorback Relief have Razorback student-athletes making a difference in Arkansas and around the world. In 2009-10, the Lee Spencer Cup was established to annually recognize the Razorback team that earns distinction in the classroom, in athletic competition, in personal development and in the community.

Administratively, landmark agreements have been negotiated with ISP and with Southeastern Conference television partners to guarantee future revenue streams and secure the financial base of the program in uncertain economic times.

Even the most optimistic outlook would have been hard pressed to foresee the level of success that the Razorback program would attain in such a short time after Long was selected to replace legendary athletic director and former Razorback football coach Frank Broyles in September of 2007. Before Long officially took the reins, Arkansas announced that it would combine its previously independent men's and women's athletic programs into one combined athletic program.

Shortly after that announcement, Long was busy engineering the first coaching search of his tenure. Long not only found the next head football coach, he convinced Bobby Petrino, one of the most successful collegiate coaches in recent history, to return to the college game at Arkansas.

By the time, Long officially started his new position on Jan. 1, 2008, he had already accomplished a list of tasks vital to the short and long-term health of the Razorback program. He had begun the process of carefully blending the men's and women's athletic departments into one unified department and establishing a new administrative structure. Under Long's leadership, Arkansas revised policies governing class attendance, drug testing, the NCAA Opportunity Fund as well as other compliance and business office procedures. The academic support services division was re-organized and a formal division of student life was created focusing on student-athlete development and community service.

Long was busy on external issues as well. In 2008, Arkansas returned to the classic Razorback logo. The new branding was featured in the launch of a new website ArkansasRazorbacks.com. In 2009-10, Arkansas hosted a year-long celebration commemorating "100 Years of the Razorbacks" and launched a new official newspaper of the department, Inside Razorback Athletics.

Long worked tirelessly to maintain long-time relationships and to forge new relationships for the benefit of the Razorback program including extending Arkansas' relationship with War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock. Long was also instrumental in helping re-establish the Razorbacks' presence in Texas, partnering with former Razorback Jerry Jones to develop the Southwest Classic, a 10-year football series with Texas A&M played at the new Dallas Cowboys Stadium.

Perhaps his most impressive accomplishment came when he brokered a new partnership with ISP to form Razorback Sports Properties. As economic indicators were beginning to point toward challenging economic times, Long signed Arkansas to a deal that will guarantee the Razorback program $73 million in the next 10 years. Long recently negotiated an extensive all sports apparel and footwear all sports agreement with NIKE, Inc. that will outfit all 19 Razorback sports programs through the 2014-15 season.

A number of athletic facilities have also seen a transformation with Bud Walton Arena undergoing extensive renovations, including replacement of the lower seating bowl and the addition of courtside seating, ribbon boards and a courtside club room. In the spring of 2009, Bogle Park, arguably the nation's best softball facility, was dedicated on the Arkansas campus and a new synthetic playing surface was installed at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium. Long remains committed to maintaining Arkansas' reputation as the home to some of the nation's best playing venues while targeting much needed facility improvements crucial to the overall development of student-athletes. The department recently commissioned a master facilities plan to assess facility needs for the future success of the Razorback program.

Arkansas' program flourished in Long's first year, finishing 24th in the NACDA Directors Cup, its best finish in nearly a decade. In his first full year at the helm, Arkansas scored a program-record 730 points on its way to a 25th-place finish. The back-to-back top 25 Directors Cup finishes marked only the second time in school history the Razorbacks accomplished that feat.

A veteran administrator with a track record of the highest commitment to the concept of "student-athlete," Long has had more than two decades experience in athletic administration at the Division I level including at the University of Pittsburgh, University of Oklahoma, University of Michigan, Virginia Tech University and Eastern Kentucky University prior to arriving at the Arkansas. While known as an innovator in athletic department management, Long also understands the coach's perspective from time spent in coaching and administrative staff positions at Duke University, Rice University and North Carolina State University.

On the forefront of NCAA governance, Long served on the NCAA Management Council as one of the athletic administrators who oversaw the operations and regulation for Division I. His experience as an athletic director and administrator in America's most prestigious conferences – the Big 12, Big Ten, Big East, Atlantic Coast and now SEC gives Long a uniquely informed perspective on intercollegiate athletics. During his career, Long has served in five of the six Bowl Championship Series leagues.

The Long Family: Christina, Fanny, Stephanie and Jeff.

Prior to assuming his current roles at Arkansas, Long served for four years as the athletic director at the Pittsburgh. During his tenure, Long redefined Pitt athletics, most notably through the "Quest for Excellence" campaign. Designed to enhance the student-athlete experience for Panther athletes through scholarship endowments and capital gifts for facility construction and renovation, the Quest resulted in almost $34 million in just over two and a half years.

His commitment to building the Pitt athletics brand resulted in a new primary mark for the Panthers which returned the powerful "PITT" brand to Pittsburgh. He established a partnership with adidas for uniforms and apparel for all 19 Pitt teams and an agreement with ISP Sports.

Long's four-year tenure added up to Pittsburgh becoming one of the nation's top programs, notably the Panthers' selection as the No. 17 overall program in the nation in the December 2006 Sports Illustrated on Campus All-Sport Rankings.

As an athletic leader, Long was a key advocate for the Big East during the league's time of membership transition. Due in part to his leadership, the Big East maintained its position as a key member of the Bowl Championship System, and the Pitt Panthers earned the Big East's automatic berth in 2004 at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Along with his tenure on the Executive Council, Long also served on the NCAA's Sports Wagering Task Force in 2004, and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association.

Before arriving at Pitt, Long was senior associate athletic director at Oklahoma for two and a half years. Responsible for the external affairs of the Sooners, he oversaw key brand areas of marketing and promotions, licensing, media relations, ticketing, radio and television rights and SoonerVision productions. In addition, Long was the primary administrator for the Sooners' highly successful football and men's basketball programs, along with sport supervision of baseball, wrestling and both golf teams.

Long's first appointment as a director of athletics was at Eastern Kentucky where he served for two and a half years. He made several revisions to the ECU athletic infrastructure and completed several facility projects. Long created the first modern corporate partner and sponsorship structure at ECU. Prior to Eastern, Long had a brief stay with Virginia Tech as an associate athletics director.

He began his career in college athletic administration at the Michigan, hired by legendary coach and athletics director, the late Bo Schembechler. During his seasons with the Wolverines, Long was promoted through a series of posts to the position of associate athletics director.

A former two-sport athlete at Ohio Wesleyan, Long earned seven varsity letters for the Bishops in football and baseball before completing his degree in economics in 1982. He started his post-graduate career in athletics as a graduate assistant football coach at the cradle of coaches, Miami University of Ohio. Long earned his master's in education at Miami in 1983, moving on to football staff positions at Rice, Duke and N.C. State prior to joining Michigan.

An Ohio native from Kettering, Long is married to the former Fanny Gellrich of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Longs have two daughters, Stephanie and Christina.

BEV LEWIS

ASSOCIATE VICE CHANCELLOR AND EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE AD

For almost three decades, Bev Lewis is synonymous with the University of Arkansas and Razorback women's sports teams. While 2007-08 season was 27th season at the University, it also proved one of the most important in her time at Arkansas. Lewis was key player in the decision to bring together the University's men's and women's departments. Starting on Jan. 1, 2008, she became an associate vice chancellor for the University and the executive associate athletic director of the unified Razorback Athletic Department.

Lewis, the former women's athletic director, now serves as associate vice chancellor and executive associate athletic director for administration and sport programs. Lewis is also the coordinator of a five-member sport administrator group that provides day-to-day administrative support for each of Arkansas' 19 sports. Lewis is the sport administrator for women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's track and field, men's and women's golf, gymnastics, softball and volleyball. In addition, Lewis is the primary administrator working with the Razorbacks' strength and conditioning units and athletic training and sports medicine program as well as overseeing the media relations and new media divisions. She also serves as a liaison to the faculty senate and the faculty athletic committee, and coordinates the department's NCAA certification, Title IX compliance and strategic planning.

The largest portion of her service to the university was her 19-year tenure as the Director of Women's Athletics. As a result of her strong emphasis on the classroom, Razorback female student-athletes received numerous academic honors including national academic All-American of the year, team academic national titles and the University's first two SEC/H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athletes of the Year.

Her leadership was also a part of the success of the University's Campaign for the Twenty-First Century. Lewis directed Women's Athletics to over $11.5 million in direct support for women's teams. During the campaign, Lewis received one of her greatest personal honors as Bob and Marilyn Bogle requested that Arkansas' $6 million facility be named the Bev Lewis Center for Women's Athletics.

In 1998, she was voted into the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor by the University's letterwinners in recognition of her contributions both as a coach and an administrator.

Lewis served collegiate athletics at the highest level as an administrator, first with the NCAA Championship Cabinet and most recently on the NCAA Management Council.

Prior to assuming the duties of AD, Lewis was women's cross country and track coach. Her Arkansas coaching milestones included the first women's squad to achieve a national ranking and the first conference championship team with the 1988 Southwest Conference Cross Country Championships.

Lewis earned her bachelor's degree from Central Michigan in 1979 and followed it with her master's from Purdue prior to her arrival at Arkansas in 1981.

Her husband, Harley, is the former athletic director at the University of Montana, former assistant director of championships with the NCAA, and development officer at Arkansas.

RAZORBACK FOUNDATION, INC.

Performing the vital role of supporting the student-athletes at the University of Arkansas with financial support, the Razorback Foundation, Inc., is in its fourth decade of working alongside the athletic department to advance Razorback Athletics.

The goal of the foundation is ensuring that the more than 460 student-athletes at Arkansas have the equipment, facilities and overall support to achieve the goals of graduation and athletic achievement.

For the first time in school history, all 19 Razorback head coaches and members of the athletic department's executive and senior administrative staffs are members of the Razorback Foundation. The pledge of personal support by those inside the department led the way for a growth in membership that saw the membership total increase from 10,390 in November 2008 to 10,530 in June 2009.

From January to June 2009, Razorback Foundation staff visited with more than 11,000 people at 50 Razorback Club functions, ranging from chapter meetings to scholarship fundraising golf events hosted by local Razorback Clubs.

Another key factor in raising the profile of the Razorback Foundation and fostering membership growth was a renewed commitment to increasing A Club membership (former Razorback letter winners) and enhancing communication and coordination with Razorback Clubs throughout the region. To help facilitate communication with all foundation members, a new web site RazorbackFoundation.com was launched.

The Foundation, officially incorporated and relocated off campus in 1988, has helped provide financial aid for the construction for the Broyles Athletic Center (football and administrative offices), Charlie Baum Stadium at George Cole Field (baseball), John McDonnell Field (outdoor track and field), Randal Tyson Track Center (indoor track and field), Dills Indoor Tennis Center, the George M. Billingsley Tennis Center (outdoor tennis) and Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium (football).

MISSION STATEMENT

The stated mission of the Razorback Foundation, Inc., is to support the athletic endeavors of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks.

The Foundation assists our student-athletes by providing for scholarships, facilities and various programs that enable them to realize their dreams of achieving a quality college education while participating in athletics on a nationally competitive level.

CAMPUS LIFE

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE MIND, BODY AND SOUL

The university offers a vibrant campus life for its mainly full-time, residential undergraduate student population. More than a dozen university residence halls can accommodate in excess of 4,000 students, and the rest live in and around the city of Fayetteville.

There are over 300 registered student organizations including special interest, religious, international and cultural organizations, as well as honorary and professional service groups. Students also may choose to participate in the university's Greek system, which is made up of 11 sororities and 17 fraternities.

In addition, more than 6,000 students, faculty and staff annually participate in the intramural sports program, which offers activities like bowling and table tennis tournaments, and sponsors clubs ranging from aikido to waterskiing. Many of these activities are conducted at the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation building, a $14 million, 225,000-square foot facility that contains 10 racquetball courts, four basketball gyms, an indoor track, an Olympic size pool, a climbing wall, a computer lab, a human performance lab and numerous classrooms.

Culturally and intellectually, the academic semesters bustle with faculty and student musical performances, theatre productions, art exhibits, concerts, poetry readings and visiting speakers — both on campus and at the adjacent Walton Arts Center. Recent university programming includes outdoor movies at the Greek Theatre, comedians, karaoke nights and even a hypnotist.

The university's Distinguished Lecture Series has featured former heads of state, Pulitzer Prize-winning writers, political pundits and humorists, and other noteworthy national and international figures and scholars such as James Carville, Mary Matalin, Ehud Olmert, Geraldine Ferraro, James Earl Jones, George H.W. Bush, and Dave Barry.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

Close to all the university has to offer

University

Housing offers a variety of housing options within more than a dozen residence halls on campus. First-year students are required to live on campus and will find many options in living arrangements and price that entice them to stay on campus beyond their freshman year — from the suite-style facilities of Maple Hill to the international living learning community of Holcombe Hall to the new apartments on Duncan Avenue.

Maple Hill is a multi-use suite-style facility. Students live in double rooms in one- and two-bedroom suites, with cable television and individual Ethernet connections in each room. The residence halls also feature staff apartments, classrooms, conference rooms, quiet study rooms and a large fireplace lounge.

Holcombe Hall opened in 1949, and is named for Miss Jobelle Holcombe, who graduated in 1898 and served as the first dean of women from 1907 to 1913. In 2006, Holcombe Hall began the transition to an international living-learning community. The goal of these communities is to create a unique and exciting place for international exchange and learning at the University of Arkansas. Students and staff conduct programs in Holcombe through the year, but the true strength of the community comes from the interactions, relationships and plans the residents themselves build.

The newest and most unique campus residence is Duncan Avenue Apartments. The four-bedroom apartments are just minutes walking distance from most classrooms and laboratories on campus. While this complex offers apartment-style living, each student has a separate contract — so if an apartment-mate leaves, other roommates are not responsible for the departing roommate's charges. The fully furnished apartments include high speed Internet, cable television and all utilities except telephone, and also features a washer and dryer and full kitchen with appliances. It is the first "Green Globes" construction project on the University of Arkansas campus.

TRADITION

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE A RAZORBACK

A MASCOT LIKE NO OTHER

The wild hogs known as razorbacks native to the Arkansas wilderness bear no resemblance to the typical barnyard pig of today. The untamed razorback hog was a lean, feral animal that was ill-tempered. It fought and defeated anything that crossed its path, man or beast. Turn of the 20th century outdoor magazines lauded the razorback as “the most intelligent of all the hogs and is likewise the most courageous. . . . He has a clear, farseeing eye.”

Except for the rare sighting in the Australian Outback, the Razorback only exists today in the form of Arkansas’ players and fans. A Russian boar, which closely resembles the wild hog of Hugo Bezdek’s day, currently serves as the official live mascot.

Tusk III is cared for by the Stokes family of Dardanelle, Ark., and travels to home games and special events for the Razorbacks. Tusk III is supported by the legacy program known as the Tusk Fund, and fans can participate by sending their support care of the Razorback Foundation, Inc. Tusk III made his debut in 2010 after the unexpected passing of his brother, Tusk II, following Arkansas’ AutoZone Liberty Bowl win over ECU in January.

While yearbook references as early as 1914 of a hog on the sideline at football games, a formal live mascot prior to the Tusk line dates back to the 1960s with a series of hogs that represented Arkansas. In addition to appearances at games, they have gained a reputation for fierce behavior.

Big Red III escaped from an exhibit near Eureka Springs in the summer of 1977 and ravaged the countryside before being gunned down by an irate farmer. Another live mascot, Ragnar, was a wild hog captured in south Arkansas by Leola farmer Bill Robinson. Before Ragnar’s spree was done, the mighty animal had killed a coyote, a 450-pound domestic pig and seven rattlesnakes. Ragnar died in 1978 of unknown causes.

THE HOG HAT

It is true; no Razorback fan’s closet is complete without an official Hog Hat. The original style was a hard plastic hat with a long snout, rough razorback ridges across the top and wickedly sharp, pointed curly-cue tail. The modern versions are often sculpted from softer material. Regardless, the Hog Hat is undoubtedly the most recognized piece of fan apparel in college athletics. Just ask ESPN GameDay’s Kirk Herbstreit as he dons the traditional Hog Hat.

WHY RAZORBACKS?

Arkansas' athletic teams have not always been called the Razorbacks. During the early years of its athletic history, the Cardinal served as the University nickname.

A lot of things changed in 1909, however, when Arkansas football coach Hugo Bezdek called his players "a wild band of Razorback hogs," after guiding his team to a 16-0 victory over Louisiana State on October 30, 1909.

Alluding to the Razorback, characterized by a ridge back and tenacious, wild fighting ability, Bezdek never forgot this idea and often called his team "a fighting band of Razorbacks."

This new nickname became increasingly popular and the student body voted to change the official University mascot from the Cardinal to the Razorbacks in 1910.

In the 1920s, "Wooo, Pig, Sooie" was added as the school yell, referred to more commonly as the "Hog Call."

There are dozens of Lions, Tigers and Bears, but in all of college athletics there is only one Razorback. The distinctive logo of the Arkansas teams is officially known as the Profile Hog, but is known to many fans as the Helmet Hog -- a fixture of the football team's helmet for almost half a century.

A PROPER HOG CALL

A chant of "Woo Pig Sooie" is known worldwide as a Hog Call. Just like any good tradition, there are lots of versions of the Hog Call (even spellings).

A properly executed Hog Call is composed of three "calls," slowly raising one's arms from the knees to above the head during the "Woo." Traditionalists prescribe an eight second "Woo." The fingers should be wiggled and the "Woo" should build in volume and pitch as the arms rise.

Upon completion of the "Woo," both arms are brought straight down with fists clinched as if executing a chin-up while yelling, "Pig". The right arm is extended up and out with the "Sooie."

A full Hog Call -- the kind one will always hear victorious Razorback teams execute after contests -- requires two more Hog Calls, followed immediately by a "Razor-Backs" yell, coordinated with a pumping motion of the right arm after the third "Sooie." So, in order, the full Hog Call is:

WOOOOOOOO. PIG. SOOIE!
WOOOOOOOO. PIG. SOOIE!
WOOOOOOOO. PIG. SOOIE!
RAZORBACKS!

ARKANSAS FIGHT

One of the first tasks of a new Razorback is learning to sing the University of Arkansas fight song. Arkansas Fight was written in the late 1920s. It is a unique tune, fitting of the only college in America with a Razorback mascot. Several other colleges have adapted the tune, but the lyrics remain unique to Arkansas.

Hit that line! Hit that line!
Keep on going!
Take that ball right
down the field!
Give a cheer. Rah! Rah!
Never fear. Rah! Rah!
Arkansas will never yield!
On your toes, Razorbacks,
to the finish,
Carry on with all your might!
For it's A-A-A-R-K-A-N-S-A-S for Arkansas!
Fight! Fight! Fi-i-i-ight!

RAZORBACK SPIRIT SQUADS

Along with being a Razorback, serving as a Razorback cheerleader has a long tradition at the University of Arkansas. Currently, the Razorbacks have two squads, a Red and White, that inspire the crowds at all home sporting events.

Arkansas also has a dance team, the Razorback Pom Squad, which performs at halftime of many events. Members of the Pom Squad also serve at baseball games as RBI Girls. Arkansas has a team of uniformed mascots, led by the original Big Red, the Fighting Razorback. Sue E. joined the family along with kid-sized Pork Chop in the late 1990s. Boss Hog is a 9-foot-tall inflatable mascot that rounds out the team.

Jean Nail serves as the coordinator for cheerleaders and mascots. For more information on the cheer squads and tryouts, go to the Spirit Squad section of ArkansasRazorbacks.com.

THE UA ALMA MATER

Brodie Payne and Henry Tovey wrote the University of Arkansas Alma Mater in the early 1900s. They were inspired by the Ozark Mountain sunrise as it illuminated Old Main.

*Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty,
Watches thy Soul
from the mountains of God.
Over the fates of thy children departed,
Far from the land
where their footsteps have trod.
Beacon of hope in the ways dreary lighted,
Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true.
From those who adore unto one who adores us,
Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you.*

FAYETTEVILLE

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Fayetteville's famous Dickson Street is much more than a college hangout, adding upscale condominiums and specialty retail to its long-standing reputation as the center of entertainment and dining. From hosting major national events like Bikes, Blues and BBQ or serving as the final resting place for the goal posts after Razorback football upsets, one thing remains constant -- Dickson is the heart of what's happening.

Characterized by unmatched outdoor activities, a vibrant night life and cultural and educational opportunities, Fayetteville has something for everyone.

From Robert Redford to James Earl Jones, the University of Arkansas hosted numerous famous speakers in recent years through its Distinguished Lecture Series.
